

Palpitation Of The Heart Nerves Were All Gone

Price 50c a box

Miss Rose Griffin, Ashern, Man., writes:— "About five years ago I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, caused by a shock, and my nerves were all gone, and I could not sleep. I read about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and decided to try them. After I had taken three boxes I was feeling fine again. I think they are a wonderful remedy, and wish all others who suffered as I did would give them a trial." Sold at all drug and general stores, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. TITLES FOR CANADIANS

Apropos of the proposal being made once more to reintroduce the system of granting titles to prominent Canadians, an editorial writer in the Winnipeg Free Press says:

"It is all very well to say that it is right and proper that men who have rendered distinctive service should be given a distinctive title. The argument is a cheap one in any case, for if a man cannot be lured into the performance of public service without dangling a title in front of him the country would be just as well off without his services. But, admitting that such a case can be made out, the fact remains that the thing does not work out that way. One grows a little tired of the incessant and uncritical admiration of all British institutions merely because they are British. Anyone who knows much about the bestowal of titles knows perfectly well that the quickest way to get one is to cough up a large sum for the right political party chest. British politicians are high-minded men, to be sure, but they all know that bread cast discretely upon the waters has a way of coming back buttered on both sides. Similarly, a cheque of sufficient magnitude returns to its donor endorsed with a peerage. The big cheques draw the big rewards.

"No honors list, of course, is ever composed purely of such favors. Men who have rendered real service are also included, and you will observe that these citizens draw down the humbler marks of distinction. A great musician or distinguished doctor will be given only a knighthood; while some gentleman who has conducted a mammoth meat packing business will receive a baronage that will place him, his heirs and successors forever, in a position from which they can look down on their fellow men with emotions appropriate to their exalted state. This is the way a rather silly business works out in practice. It appears to please the people of Great Britain, and they have as much right to that custom as they have to serve all their vegetables soggy. In neither case are we bound to follow their example. We can love them anyway."

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia. This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. And a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

FAREWELL WAS HELD

John McLean Honored By Scottish Friends Last Night on Eve of Departure For Old Land

Members of the old St. Andrew's Society, to the number of about thirty, gathered at the Commodore Cafe last night in a farewell dinner for John McLean, secretary of the society up to a short time ago, on the eve of his departure for Glasgow, Scotland, to reside.

Howard Steen was in the chair and fitting remarks were made by several speakers. Great regret was expressed at the impending departure of Mr. McLean but the hope was voiced that the future would hold happiness and prosperity for himself and family and that they may return to Prince Rupert some day to resume residence among their many friends. Speakers included Ald. S. D. Macdonald and Ald. James Black.

There was also an informal musical program which included vocal solos by Alex McLeod, Ben Ferguson, W. M. Brown, J. McPhee and the guest of honor and humorous recitations by A. A. Connon.

One of the happy features of the evening's proceedings was the presentation to Mr. McLean of a handsome leather club bag with the best wishes of the friends assembled. The presentation was made by Mr. Steen and Mr. McLean responded suitably.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean and son and daughter left on this morning's train for St. John, N.B., where they will embark for Glasgow.

Engineers' Union Hears Official

Frank Healy of Niagara Falls, Canadian Representative, Spoke at Meeting Last Night

The Prince Rupert local of the International Union of Operating Engineers heard an address last night by Frank Healy of Niagara Falls, Canadian representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers, who is making a tour of the west. Mr. Healy, who spoke interestingly on trade union principles, arrived from Vancouver on Wednesday and left on this morning's train for Edmonton. There was a record attendance at the meeting.

W. S. Hammond, president of the local, was in the chair at last night's meeting.

sore and tourists are continually asking for an explanation.

The city council every year makes a tax levy just large enough to pay the cost of governing the city and maintaining our civic institutions. All public utilities around this block must be kept in efficient condition. The legitimate share of the carrying charges that should have been borne by this block since our incorporation, with interest at 6%, is over $140,000. As the place was serving a useful purpose until 1922, the city's actual loss has been almost half the amount just quoted.

Some years ago the provincial government built a new court house in Vancouver. The site of the old building valued at $2,000,000 was presented to that big and wealthy city. The provincial government there did not profit one dollar from the sale of the original town-site, but had, on the other hand, to make very large expenditures to secure sites for court house, normal school, industrial home and other institutions.

The provincial government has fared well in Prince Rupert. At a sale of Rupert lots held in Vancouver and Victoria in 1909 the government made almost $800,000 out of an aggregate of over $3,000,000.

Shortly after this $200,000 was added to this amount from a $600,000 sale in section 2. Then again in August, 1912, the government sold lots to the extent of $1,191,628. This shows that the government has found the real estate business here fairly profitable. That they did better than they expected is proven by the fact that the amount just quoted as realized at the last sale was almost three times the upset price established of $450,975. But the city, the corporate body of Prince Rupert, received none of this enormous profit. All we inherited was the legacy of a widely scattered city with the resultant increased expense of upkeep.

"At the time of the sale in Section 2, the government was so elated with the result that they, in conjunction with the G. T. P. prevailed upon the city to agree to the building of a $90,000 bridge, each party to pay a third of the cost. Eventually the present bridge was built but the city paid the entire cost. Surely this unkept pledge should in itself be enough to influence the government to grant our request that the old court house block be sold. We are not asking for a present of it.

"When the law giving the government a quarter interest in new townsites became effective, we were assured that the 'land-grabbers' could no longer hold land for purely speculative purposes in spite of public inconvenience. Many wild land taxes have been suggested and even passed to help curb this evil. Even the poor struggling pre-emptor is not immune. He must prove up or go. In conclusion we submit that the government can conveniently use a few thousand dollars and that justice to the city and convenience to our citizens demands the immediate sale of this

The foregoing letter was approved at a meeting of the executive of the Ratepayers' Association last night. It was decided to call a public meeting in the near future to advocate the sale of the block without further delay.

Unemployment was also discussed at last night's meeting.
