TOMORROW'S ELECTION MOMENTOUS

If the National government is returned to power tomorrow, it is pretty certain that Britain will adopt a permanent protection policy with a reciprocity clause for Empire products. A bill to give effect to this policy was all ready for introduction before Parliament was dissolved but the government did not feel itself sufficiently strong to introduce the measure. If it goes back with a reasonable majority, as is fully expected, the bill will be revised and introduced very soon after the next House assembles.

Prince Rupert people will watch the returns from the election with great interest. Possibly there may be some early returns in time for tomorrow's paper.

THE LOAD LINE.

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has still to continue the fight for elimination of the load line discrimination against winter shipping at the port of Vancouver. The suggestion that ocean shipping might go south by the inside passage is all nonsense. The insurance companies will not allow freighters to go that way with cargo. They have to go outside.

Shipping men know that vessels coming to the port of Prince Rupert by the outside route are just as safe as going to Vancouver, Victoria or Puget Sound ports. What is necessary now is to get the authorities to recognize this and to have the international regulations changed so that Prince Rupert may be included in the area which has the summer load during winter months.

IMPROVED PRICE OF WHEAT.

The improved price of wheat during the past week had a slightly cheering effect on the farmers of the middle west. While it is still so low that it will be difficult for the farmers to make wages at that rate, there is a possibility that the move upward may continue. Some authorities declare that by using modern methods farmers can make grain growing pay at 75c a bushel. Still at that rate there will be no margin for trips to California in winter.

J. A. FRASER, M.P. AND PEACE OUTLET

J. A. Fraser, M.P., assumes that Prince Rupert does not know what it is talking about when it opposes the completion of the P.G.E. to Vancouver. Mr. Fraser knows but he does not state what he knows. As an experienced public man he knows that railways have but one rate to competitive points. The same rate will be paid for hauling the grain to Prince Rupert as to Vancouver.

If the outlet is built to connect with the P.G.E. to Vancouver the rate will be set so as to give a profit to the railway hauling the grain over the mountainous and tortuous route to Vancouver and the rate to Prince Rupert will have to be equally high. This will be a hardship on the farmers who have to ship their grain to the coast.

If the line were first built to connect the Peace with the C.N.R. line, the rate would be much lower, based on the easy water grade through to Prince George.

Mr. Fraser, member for Cariboo, is a special pleader for the present government and as such seeks to justify the action he thinks they will take. He also gets much of his support from Prince George and it would not do to tell the Prince George people the unpleasant truth that if the P.G.E. is finished to their city it will prove a great handicap to the farmers of the Peace River country through causing the wheat rates to be kept inordinately high.

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Hopeful for Further Finds on Rainbow Creek—
Activity in Rainy Hollow—Important
Mining Meeting

Jack Adams, veteran Fort George transportation man and guide, spent the past summer prospecting in the Nation River district and is steadfast in his belief that further search will result in finds really worthwhile. "There is a lot of country still to be prospected throughout the whole territory," says Adams. "Rainbow Creek looks fairly good, specially near the mouth where bedrock is easily reached. Two or three outfits are doing well and I believe that further up the creek it is a dredging proposition because water interferes with pick and shovel work. Some of the men on Rainbow Creek are getting ready for winter digging when the freeze-up will prevent inflow of water. I think they will find fair values."

In the Rainy Hollow district a few prospectors are developing a most promising mineral area according to William Bunting, one of the original locators of the Premier mine, who came south recently after spending the summer in that country. "There are some enormous quartz showings in that district," says Mr. Bunting. "Porcupine, New York and Juneau groups of capital have been in the district doing development work. Among the operations this season was the testing by Keystone drill of a large area of potential placer gravels at the foot of Jarvis Glacier." Mr. Bunting's holdings in that district include a gold property on which he developed a large showing by open-cutting and shafts.

British Columbia has been selected this year for the Western Annual Meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, which will be held jointly with the Mining Association of B. C. in Vancouver on November 25-27 next.

In the program that has been arranged the subject of gold mining and gold mining opportunities in British Columbia will be stressed, and among those contributing papers on this theme are J. D. Gallo-way, Provincial Mineralogist; J. E. Moran of Atlin; Dr. W. E. Cockfield and Dr. J. F. Walker. There will also be a paper on the general trend of gold mining in Canada by the members of the ore-dressing staff of the Mines Branch at Ottawa. Of popular interest will be the illustrated lecture by John Hosie, Provincial Librarian, on "The Gold Rush of Cariboo."

"Probation After Death," Science Sunday Subject

The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday was "Probation After Death."

Among the Bible texts included in the lesson-sermon was the following from John 21:13, 14: "Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise. This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead."

The lesson-sermon also included the reading of citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being as follows: "This spiritual meeting with our Lord in the dawn of a new light is the morning meal which Christian Scientists commemorate. They bow before Christ, Truth, to receive more of his reappearing and silently to commune with the divine Principle, Love. They celebrate their Lord's victory over death, his probation in the flesh after death, its exemplification of human probation, and his spiritual and final ascension above matter, or the flesh, when he rose out of material sight."

Radio station KJR of Seattle, at request of Miss Margaret Shields of Anyox, played "Many Happy Returns of the Day" Saturday night.
