Statistics on Season's Salmon Pack—Yacht on Dry Dock—Halibut Arrivals

The total salmon pack on the Skeena River for the 1931 season up to August 22, when sockeye fishing was closed and the most of the canneries discontinued operations, was 164,282 cases against 412,469 cases at the corresponding date in 1930. For the Naas River the total pack was 14,674 cases against 108,847 cases. The sockeye pack on the Skeena, at least, was not far behind 1930, the principal reason for the big total decrease this year, as said before, being on account of it being an off-year for the canners were not desirous of touching this year.

Following were figures species by species in the various divisions of District No. 2 with pack up to August 22 with 1930 figures at a similar date for comparison:

A ruling which may establish a precedent of importance to fishermen in the State of Washington was handed down by Judge H. W. B. Hewen of Pacific County recently, when he filed an opinion that a fishing vessel is exempt from attachment for debt on the grounds of its being a tool with which a workman earns his living. The ruling was favorable to Victor E. Findel, whose boat was attached for debt in November and was held until February. During that time it was damaged by storm and was permitted to lie on the beach for some time. Under the judge's ruling, Mr. Findel recovered damages in the sum of $381. The ruling is significant to fishermen in that it places a fishing vessel under the exemption granted a workman for his tools and protects owners against the loss of their boats for personal debts.

Canada's Fish Week will be held this year on September 14 to 19, under auspices of Canadian Fisheries Association and co-operation of the federal and all provincial governments has been secured, according to an announcement by A. H. Brittain, of Montreal, president of the association. The association will hold its annual convention in Ottawa September 14 and 15 next. Mr. Brittain, in issuing notice of the observance of Fish Week, calls attention to the fact that Canada has a relatively small per capita fish consumption, despite its being a maritime nation with huge inland waterways. Fish is one of the most healthful of foods, he says, and the campaign being conducted by the association is designed to make Canada "fish conscious."

New Secretary Engaged
The British Columbia Fishermen's

Co-operative Association has appointed H. M. Leach as secretary-treasurer, succeeding William Armstrong. Mr. Leach has had extensive experience in co-operative organization work, having come to the fishermen from the British Columbia egg pool. It has been decided, for the meantime at least, not to employ any production superintendent, supervising production activities from head office which keeps in close contact with all fishing stations. Operations of the organization are declared by its officials to be working out very satisfactorily. There are at present 1500 active members in the co-operative although all of them have not been fishing this season.

Local sportsmen, particularly the hunters, will, undoubtedly be very interested in hearing the talk next Monday night under the Prince Rupert Rod & Gun Club auspices, of A. Bryan Williams, game commissioner for British Columbia. Mr. Williams is an experienced authority on all matters pertaining to game and is well qualified to speak. Possibly, there are a number of things local hunters would like to get a little more light upon and it is expected that Mr. Williams will be ready and willing to answer all queries that may be put to him.

Members of the scientific staff of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, who left on Monday of this week for Departure Bay, Vancouver Island, to attend the annual conference of Pacific Coast workers of the Biological Board of Canada, are expected to return to the city next week.

B. C. Airways that Flight Lieut. Johnson R. C. A. F., who this week inspected the company's Gypsy Moth seaplane following its recent mishap at Langara Island, found that damage was not so serious as to necessitate extensive and costly repairs. The popular local plane and the equally popular Pilot D. Murphy are expected to be back on the job within a few days. There is considerable flying work, which was pending before the accident, to be cleaned up and it is desirable to do it as soon as possible before the really bad fall weather sets in.

The American schooner Sunset, which is well known here, was nearly cut in two when she was run down recently in Puget Sound by the tanker steamer Frank G. Drum. Fortunately, none of the crew of ten men suffered injury. The Sunset was groping her way into Seattle in an early morning fog when the collision occurred. Capt. John Hanson heard the tanker's warning whistle and stopped the vessel only to have the steamer loom up immediately above the schooner and crash into it. Later the Drum towed the Sunset to Port Townsend where she was beached so she would not sink. She was later taken to Seattle for repairs. The Sunset is a 60 footer, equipped with a 60 h.p. diesel engine and was built in 1923 in Seattle.

As a result of the breaking of a mooring line, the well known American halibutter Akutan went on the beach on a falling tide at Ketchikan recently and, heeling over as the tide fell, took considerable water before she could be righted. A plank was stove in and repairs have since been made. Just prior to her own accident, the Akutan had rescued the crew of the schooner Northern which burned in Sumner Strait.

Following his recent experiments here and at other ports on the coast, C. F. Lanwermeyer, chemist for the Abbott Laboratories, Chicago chemical factory, undertook to secure 10,000 pounds of raw halibut livers this season, offering 9c per pound for the livers. There may be some difficulty in obtaining the livers and it is possible that they may be eventually converted into medicinal products on this coast instead of being shipped to Chicago.

New Lipsett Manager
Official announcement was made recently of the appointment of W. H. Stewart as general manager for Edward Lipsett Co. Ltd., having supervision over both the Vancouver and Prince Rupert branches of the company. Mr. Stewart has been with the company for several months and has already made a few trips to Prince Rupert. He has had long experience in the fishery outfitting business of the Atlantic Coast.

Among the large American halibut boats which laid up recently at Seattle for overhaul in view of the low price situation were the Liberty, Albatross, Tordenskjold, Yakutat, Nordby, Columbia, Alton, Venture and Aleutian, all regular landers of catches at Prince Rupert.

The American halibut boat Eastern Point, which makes her landing headquarters at Prince Rupert, was found disabled near Cape Muzon recently while fishing out of Ketchikan. The vessel was taken in tow to Ketchikan by a coastguard cutter. There had been considerable anxiety over her continued absence so a search was instituted.

The Ripley Fish Co., veteran Seattle wholesale concern, has retired from the Seattle field in which it operated for many years. Premises on the Seattle dock of the old concern were taken over by a new company bearing the name Chase Fish Co. with Roy Chase as its head.

So heavy have the salmon catches been in Ketchikan waters that the seiner Home Run, Capt. R. W. Erwin, coming in with a load which was much too heavy, filled her hold with water and brailled a full deck-load out of one set. The water came in so rapidly that the vessel had to be beached and her fish taken to Ketchikan by another boat.

Returns from crab tagging operations conducted by the Biological Board at several points along the coast have been very disappointing, less than a dozen tagged crabs having been recovered out of nearly 700 which were marked. This work was carried out during the past summer in this district by D. C. G. McKay.

The big Philadelphia yacht Armima, which arrived here early in the week after a two months' cruise to Alaska waters with her owner, General A. W. Atterbury, president of the Philadelphia Railroad, and party on board, is now on the pontoons at the local dry dock undergoing certain repairs prior to departing on her long voyage to her home port on the Atlantic Coast.

Halibut Landings
Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the week ending yesterday totalled 397,700 pounds of which 255,200 pounds was from Canadian boats while American vessels contributed only 142,500 pounds to the week's business. The total for the season up to yesterday stood at 11,509,940 pounds consisting of 4,775,000 pounds Canadian and 6,734,940 pounds American fish.

Prices averaged a little better this week than in the previous week. The top bid this week for Canadian fish was 7.2c and 3c which the Cape Race and Teeny Mully received for catches of 6,000 and 8,500 pounds respectively. Low price of the week was 5c and 3c which the Melville was paid for 15,000 pounds. For American fish the highest price of the week was 9.1c and 4c paid the Betty and Bravo for catches of 8,000 and 11,000 pounds respectively. The low American price was 5.5c and 2.5c paid the Mars for 1,000 pounds.
