Is Discussed in Vancouver Paper's Editorial-Right Thing Was Done

Alex Tyee and Donald Grey, medicine men and witch doctors of the Skeena country, have been convicted of witchcraft, says the Vancouver Province editorially. They came before His Honor Judge Young at Smithers, who heard the evidence of the Royal Canadian Mounted against them, and who heard their defence. Also he heard the evidence of Chief David Francis, that the medicine men had blown away the evil spirit which possessed him, when no white man's medicine could avail. Because the Criminal Code frowns on witchcraft, and because Alex and Donald were undoubtedly guilty, the learned judge was obliged to convict them. Because, as it seems, he has wisdom and discretion, he let them go with suspended sentence. We are glad he did that, and we think it was the right thing to do.

Corporal Berger and Constable Rivett, of the Hazelton detachment R.C.M.P., looked through the windows of Tyee David's house at Hagwilget village. They came into court spirit of the bear held him in its. A. J. Prudhomme, proprietor of the other day and told the judge what they saw. It was a night of the snow lay on the ground. ### What Butterfield Says

There have been rather curious oings up at Smithers about this business of the Indian medicine en who undertook to "blow away" ertain evil spirits and have got a and no doubt they practice upon | rear in quod for it, writes J. Butterhe credulity of the tribesmen of field in the same issue. It seems to Hagwilget village, up there in the ne that if for every similar exhibibelieved in their treatment; and doctors they were to get a year in Laster tors left to look after the common cold and various other of the ordinary afflictions of the race.

For more than half of modern medical practice is upon the basis of what is called psychology. And psychology is nothing more or less than the witchcraft of primitive peoples translated into terms of modern science. Or pseudo-science.

And again it occurs to me that the evidence presented by the police in the case in point was evidence obtained by looking through a window. I may be mistaken, but somehow seems to me that I have heard than an English court of law will not accept as evidence anything that is seen through a window—unless that window is open and there is no glass intervening.
