Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

Three Men Were Married to Same Woman Revealed

SYDNEY, Aust., Aug. 8.—A remarkable story was unfolded at the Kogarah police court recently when three men related how they all had married the same woman. One of them, it was stated, had even served a term in jail for non-payment of maintenance to her. The accused, a domestic, was committed by the magistrate for trial on three bigamy charges. After the hearing in police court the three men in the case chatted together outside of the courtroom, where they had been during the court proceedings except when wanted. When one of them was wanted in the courtroom a constable put his head around the door and called out: "Husband No. 1" (or No. 2 or 3), "you're wanted over here."
