

SAVE YOUR SIGHT

EYESIGHT—The most valuable of all the senses—is the most neglected and the least understood. Many suffer from it, which, upon examination, can be traced directly to defective eyesight.

THE removal of the cause will often restore the delicate and run-down sufferer to robust health. When glasses are properly prescribed, they restore the vision to normal and eliminate all eye strain.

SALMON AND HERRING ARE DISCUSSED

Senator Heckman and Carl Foss Give Interesting Talks Before Ketchikan Chamber of Commerce.

At a recent meeting of the Ketchikan Chamber of Commerce Senator Heckman and Carl Foss spoke on salmon and herring as commercial products.

Senator Heckman said, in part: "The only protective measures that will actually protect the humpback salmon, which is the only variety of commercial importance in Southeastern Alaska, would be to have an absolutely closed season for this variety of fish, a measure that would make a closed season for humpbacks from, say the 20th of August to the 25th of August, depending on the locality, after which closing it would be unlawful for anyone to have a humpback salmon in their possession."

"Make it impossible to sell humpbacks after that date and no one will care to fish for them; they will have lost their value to the fisherman and cannery as well."

Salmon Traps.

"Some say that the traps are destructive and must be abolished admitting the destructiveness of fish traps, but you must bear in mind that if you abolish traps the cannery will use that many more seines, for they are bound to catch the fish as long as there is enough of them to make it a remunerative business. The only way to protect the fish is to make it unlawful to have them in your possession during the closed season after a certain date each year. It is out of the question to try to regulate the hours of fishing or the locality in which to fish as a protective measure."

The Senator also said that the hatcheries were making a big mistake in propagating red salmon in Southeastern Alaska as this was not a red salmon district and that they should try to stock the hatcheries with humpbacks, as they were the important fish in this district.

Herring.

Senator Heckman spoke in glowing terms of the future of the herring industry and said that the consumption of herring was increasing three or four times as rapidly than the consumption of salmon did at the time they started to pack salmon. He also stated that the herring was a cheaper and more wholesome food for the consumer and that it was a much cheaper fish to pack.

Diet of Whales.

Mr. Carl Foss gave a unique and new idea of the herring habits that was discovered in Scotland and Scandinavia. Mr. Foss said in part: "The whale being very fond of herring as an article of diet, follows a school of herring, floundering around and driving them in close to the shore where there is shallow water where he can find a bight or bay to drive the school into. After coralling the school of herring in the bay the whale will lay with its mouth open and as the herring swim into it he devours them in great quantities. Now it was discovered that when the practice of killing whales near shore was practiced very intensively that the herring runs diminished to an alarming extent, the reason being that as there was nothing to drive the herring toward the shore they remained out in deep water. So the governments of these countries placed a restriction on the killing of whales near the coast line and the result was that the herring continued to come in greater and greater quantities until the herring fisheries of those countries surpass any in the world as a commercial product."
