School Children At Port Clements Stage Xmas Tree

PORT CLEMENTS, Jan. 6.—The school children put on a very good Christmas entertainment here.

The program opened with a little playlet of the Manger Scene with Mary and Joseph, an adoring shepherd, and an angel appearing in a vision to some children while singing carols instead of quarrelling on Christmas Eve.

This was followed by a Junior School program of songs, recitations and solos, an da charming duet by the Mayer twins.

The seniors by this time had had sufficient time to dress up as French settlers of the early Eighteenth Century and, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Jones and little Robin Mayer, put on a little historical sketch entitled "The Seigneur Holds Court at Longpre Village." This went with a swing, despite the fact that each senior had three or four roles a piece and the Seigneur and his secretary had to make much evident "patter" to cover awkward situations.

Again the Junior School (not one over seven years of age) came nobly to the rescue and did folk dances and games with an abandon that carried the house with them, whilst the Seniors, with feverish haste, prepared for the tit-bit of the performance—"Snow White and Rose Red." The four seniors who faced a southeaster two days previous to obtain trees and moss were amply repaid when the woodland scene appeared in all its glory.

Della Pelton's "Snow White" was very charming and showed much real dramatic power, while Doreen Allen interpreted "Rose Red" exceedingly well. That horrid man of the woods was so well depicted by Ernest Chapman that the whole audience was glad to see him overthrown by the noble Bear Prince—Sergius de Bucy. When the curtain, which was a work of art manipulated very ably by Dunc Cameron, went down for the last time, it fell on some very happy children who were experiencing the joy of accomplishment.

Port Clements Christmas Tree

PORT CLEMENTS, Jan. 6.—The annual community Christmas Tree was held here under the auspices of the church.

The school children put on a very good entertainment, having been very ably trained by their teacher, Mrs. N. L. Jones, who had written an original sketch surrounding the incident of the Babe of Bethlehem. The accompanists were Mrs. George Mayer and Dave Crocker who also provided incidental music for the plays. Rev. R. P. Graham made an excellent chairman, and gave a short address upon "The Spirit of Christmas."

After the children's entertainment a messenger arrived with a telegram from Santa, saying all was well and he would arrive within a few seconds of its receipt. Then the jolly old fellow arrived and ascended the platform where he found a wonderful tree full of magic fruits and pleasure-giving gifts for the children. The grown-ups were not forgotten but given many comical presents which caused much merriment. This opportunity was seized by many to send both Mr. and Mrs. Jones gifts—as many feel very sad at their unpreventable departure. By their unselfishly giving up much of their spare time, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Jones have won the love and respect of their fellows.

Once there was a feeling of great consternation when Santa turning to reach something from the tree, a terrific explosion was heard, but, on facing the crowd once more he still had:

"A little round nose
"And a little round belly,
"That shook when he laughed
"Like a bowl full of jelly."

The last good-byes fading away, the ladies of the community distinguished themselves with having provided a feast fit for the joyous occasion.

Then Mr. Crocker came forward with a very pretty box (an artistic product of Mrs. Oscar Dunlap) containing a sum of money, a gift, he said, from the community at large as a token of their appreciation of the work done by both Mr. and Mrs. Noel Lewis Jones during their sojourn of three and a half years in the district. After three rousing cheers and a tiger for the Jones', who replied by giving the same for Port Clements, the social continued till almost midnight.

Must Live Up To Letter Of Gov't Rules

A letter from C. L. Monroe, government agent, informed the city council last night that, in the administration of direct relief to unemployed, each party, be it federal government, province or municipality, was required to pay its own costs. This was the reply to a query of the city if government assistance would be forthcoming should a salaried relief officer be appointed by the city. The city would have to pay his entire salary, it was pointed out.

Neither could there be any modification of the requirements in the matter of forwarding certificates and other documents to Ottawa in regard to relief, Mr. Monroe's communication stated. The city had endeavored to eliminate some of the "red tape" in this regard.

Speed Up Eleventh Ave. Work Urged

Ald. Rudderham Suggests That Council Delay It No Longer Than Necessary

Ald. Rudderham urged at last night's meeting of the city council that the necessary bylaw providing for the surfacing of Eleventh Avenue be put through without delay so that this work may be proceeded with immediately on conclusion of the grading which is now being carried out as relief work.

To have the street closed any longer than was absolutely necessary would work a hardship on many residents in that vicinity, Ald. Rudderham felt.

FOOD MILEAGE

FUELING the household machine is an important item these days. After all, on the road of daily life, most of us have to get the last mile out of every dollar we spend.

High food mileage means careful buying . . . thoughtful selection of the foods that not only suit the tastes and physical needs of the family, but the pocketbook as well.

That's the value of advertising. Every day, here in your paper, are presented new and interesting food ideas. New ways of preparing old reliable favorites. New combinations of the foods the family needs . . . in ways they'll like.

Standard, unvarying quality is the outstanding feature of advertised merchandise in general . . . and of food products in particular. Quite a factor in getting high food mileage!

Read the food advertising here in your daily paper . . . it will show you the way to higher food mileage.
