LECTURES INTEREST

C. P. Balagno Speaks on Dahlias, Wm. Millar on Roses, W. E. Funnell on Bedding Plants

Members of the Prince Rupert Flower Society had an evening of much interest last night when, after a business session, three lectures on subjects of general interest to all Prince Rupert gardeners were given by well known local horticulturalists. After each lecture, there was general discussion and numerous questions were answered to the satisfaction of all.

The first lecture was a short talk on dahlias by C. P. Balagno. Mr. Balagno went fully into the various types and kinds of dahlias. Quoting some of the most prominent authorities, he developed the fact that dahlias were no respecters of country or location and were grown in almost all parts of the world. They had become one of the most popular flowers among horticulturalists.

William Millar's subject was the rose. He dealt with planting, pruning and winter protection. After describing the proper methods of planting, Mr. Millar gave some suggestions as to the care of roses between the planting and the blooming seasons. He described methods of winter protection and some of his own experiences with roses in Prince Rupert, all of which information was most valuable for beginners. He stressed the fact that one of the most general mistakes among amateurs was a reluctance in applying the pruning knife. It should be applied very freely and without consideration to every bud, Mr. Millar asserted.

W. E. Funnell spoke on bedding and general gardening. He covered the subject of annuals, which grew so freely in Prince Rupert, and gave valuable information as to seeding. The care of young plants and transplanting were also discussed. Mr. Funnell made the interesting statement that some plants seemed to do even better with frequent transplanting.

The meeting was well attended. At the business session, only routine matters were taken up. M. A. Burbank, president of the society, was in the chair.

W. H. Tobey, C.N.R. divisional superintendent, returned to the city on yesterday afternoon's train from a trip up the line on official business.
