Experts at work in Finger Print Department at Ottawa.

They Tell the Tales of Crime

In a room at Ottawa, the Canadian Government has on file the finger prints of all known Canadian criminals. Also of many international characters. Filed with them are the records of the criminals.

When a crime occurs anywhere in Canada, and the criminal leaves a finger print, it goes to Ottawa for identification. Here are records which never tell a lie, ready to identify the man if he has ever before been involved.

So with newly arrested criminals. Their finger prints are taken and sent to Ottawa. There, if they have criminal records, they are immediately produced. Sometimes crimes committed a thousand miles away are in this manner traced to the man in custody.

Thus finger prints, the marks we leave on everything we touch, are used to protect society.

Your Dangerous Prints

This is told to remind you of the dangerous prints you leave on whatever you touch. Not criminal prints, but prints laden with germs. You may pick up these germs from things others have touched with contaminated hands.

Your finger prints on food may be the means of carrying germs to your mouth. There they breed and multiply. Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be conveyed in this way. Colds are among them.

A hand becomes infected if it stops a sneeze. Then whatever that hand touches may convey those germs to others. The shaking of hands spreads countless colds.

Remember to wash your hands often with a germicidal soap. Do this always before touching food.

TEXT BOOKS CRITICIZED

History and Mathematics Books Under Fire of Teachers Here

The regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Teachers' Association was held last evening in Booth Memorial School when appointment of delegates and the consideration of resolutions for the annual teachers' convention were the chief items of business.

In addition to Miss Mercer, who is the geographical representative for Northern British Columbia, delegates appointed by the meeting were Miss O. A. McArthur, Miss K. McKay and J. S. Wilson. A representative from King Edward High School will be appointed later.

In the discussion regarding resolutions for the annual convention, the matter of separate readers for grades five and six was brought up. Several changes have been made in the contents of these books recently so that already in the same class pupils have not the same reading material. The pupils, by the time they reach grade six, have already read most of the subject matter and the book lacks that appeal of novelty that should be one of the attractions when put in a pupil's hands for the first time. The matter of reading content is also a matter that might be advantageously reconsidered. The resolution will recommend that separate readers be published for grades five and six.

The new history 'textbook' also came under fire. While the arrangement of the material in topical rather than chronological order is to be commended it was felt that the arrangement, the language and the very broad outline of treatment made it very difficult for the pupil to adequately comprehend the subject matter. Touching chiefly the outstanding events in the development of modern civilization is like travelling through British Columbia landing only on the mountain peaks. But the life of the people lies mainly in the valleys. In the hands of a pupil with a background of history the book is admirable but for the pupil attempting the study of history for the first time its value was not so evident.

The mathematics textbook was also the subject for adverse comment. Its many good points were recognized. It attempts to make arithmetic more of an every day application of the fundamental rules but it takes up such a multiplicity of details that clarity of aim is lost. It was felt that with a closer realization of its imperfections a better book would be forthcoming in a few years.

The annual convention will be held in Victoria this year during Easter week. The convention will open with a public meeting on Monday, April 6. It is expected that the Provincial Government and the Education Department will hold a special reception at the Parliament Buildings as was done when the convention last visited Victoria.

In the course of the meeting correspondence from the general secretary of the B. C. Teachers' Federation indicated that he hoped to visit Prince Rupert shortly after Easter. It is hoped that the minister of education may also visit Prince Rupert at the same time. In this connection a public meeting will doubtless be arranged and those who were able to hear Mr. Charlesworth speak on his last visit will be glad to have an opportunity to hear him again.

USK MINER VISITS CITY

Milton Allison Sees Prospects of Renewed Activity at Mining Centre

Milton Allison, well known Usk miner, arrived in the city yesterday in connection with his interests at the interior centre and was busy this morning making business calls.

Mr. Allison says he thinks there will be considerable work at Usk this season. Mr. Dolan, who owns the Shannon property across the river, is expected within a few days and other concerns besides the Columar are likely to be active.

That Usk would be too busy a place for the suggestion in regard to closing down the station to be carried out was the intimation of the visitor. Mr. Allison said he did not think it had been seriously proposed.

"Melvina's Courtship" Repeated Last Night At Rupert E. Church

The play "Melvina's Courtship," which was staged last week in First United Church, was repeated last night before a full house in Rupert East United Church. The audience was fully appreciative of the fine effort. Mrs. Robert McKay played piano selections during the intermissions.

At the close of the play, Mrs. John Manson, director of the play, was presented with a bouquet and Rev. C. E. Motte, pastor of Rupert East Church, voiced appreciation to members of the cast. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid.

TERRACE BANQUET

Father and Son Gatherings With Local Persons Participating

TERRACE, March 4 — Fathers and sons were much in evidence on Saturday night at the United Church here, when an excellent banquet was spread to a good company. During the proceedings Ernie Weymouth submitted the toast to "The King"; Harry Weymouth, "The Fathers," and Hugh McCulloch, "Our Guests."

Speeches appreciative of the work of the boys' movement were given by most of the fathers and much interest was evidenced in the addresses of the visitors.

Will Tobey, Prince Rupert, member of the Hazelton district of Skeena on the Boys' Parliament, spoke on the work done at the last session of the Boys' Parliament, told of its methods and indicated its plans for the promotion of the Trail Rangers and the Tuxis Boys' program among around 3,000 boys associated with the churches in B. C.

Singing of songs and the devotion to promote a "father and son clean up day" in Terrace ended a most successful gathering.

A Father and Son service was held in the United Church on Sunday morning. Archie Flinter, chief ranger being the leader. The offering was taken by Harry Weymouth. There was a duet by A. Winter and Lloyd Jones and readings by Gilbert McCulloch and John Tobey.

W. J. Earl Barrie of Prince Rupert delivered a telling address based on the words, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

His Mother Is Dead in Norway

I. Fenness, President of Lief Erikson Society, Received Sad News Last Night

I. Fenness, president of the Lief Erikson Society here and well known member of the Imperial Oil Co. staff has just received the sad news of the death at her home in Bjarkoy, Norway, on February 5 of his mother, Mrs. Johanna Hansen Fenness, who was about eighty years of age. His mother's death occurred three weeks after Mr. Fenness had left on his return to Canada after paying a visit with her in the Old Country. She appeared to be enjoying good health when he left home and her demise came quite suddenly.

Mr. Fenness's father died fourteen years of age. Peculiarly enough, he passed away just six weeks after he had arrived for a visit to Norway just as his mother did.

The Varden Singers gave a recital at the Prince Rupert General Hospital last Sunday afternoon. The singing was much enjoyed by the patients.
