There are seven reasons why

GUINNESS IS GOOD FOR YOU

2 FOR NERVES. Guinness is good for "Nerves." It contains phosphates and other natural tonic constituents. In many cases of "Neuralgia" or nervous headache Guinness acts like a charm in banishing pain.

A glass of Guinness at dinner or supper is wonderfully soothing and calming, restoring and rebuilding the tired nervous system.

Guinness is a delicious beverage, preserving the natural virtues of the barley, barley malt, hops and yeast from which it is brewed.

Guinness should not be served COLD.

BANDMASTER IS HONORED

Parents of Band Boys Tender Him Party and Presentation

Last evening some thirty parents gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bartlett Seventh Avenue, to honor the instructor of the local band boys, on the occasion of his birthday.

The evening was spent in games, guessing contests, etc., into which all entered heartily. Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies. A unique feature of the affair was a huge birthday cake, the decoration of which included in its icing several bars of music. Bandmaster Wilson cut the cake and made many of his usual humorous remarks.

After full justice had been done to the refreshments, J. W. McKinley, who was also in a humorous mood presented to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson a beautiful silver cake basket donated by the parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson each replied feelingly and expressed determination to carry the young musicians to still greater efficiency.

At about 1 a.m. all joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows." Thus ended an enjoyable evening.

TROUSERS POPULAR

Are Important Feature of French Spring Style Showings

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Trousers, long and short, formal and informal, indicating that the modern modish miss will combine 1931 freedom with 1870 femininity are one of the most important features of showings of spring styles just begun. Although only small couturiers have exhibited so far collections indicate that pajamas launched as a fad are now a definite part of the mode both for playtime and evening wear.

There are wide variations of cut and variety of material from red canton flannel to glittering sequins. Summer girls may lounge on beaches in red flannel made in overall design with braces crossing and green gingham long sleeves shirts. A bandana of the same gingham may be knotted around the head worn under a broad-rimmed crownless hat of red flannel.

Tennis costumes feature white pique shorts with sleeveless blouses of the same material accompanied by long full pajamas to wear when the game is finished. Yachting pajamas are one of the newest items of trouser display. They are made of white light blue shirt and dark blue jacket.

Stylists predict great success for dinner pajamas of definite sophistication. One such model has gray sequin trousers worn with a tight bodice which has a strap decollete. Another is pale pink silk crepe with a high necker bodice made of the open silk mesh which is new and much used for spring.

All pajamas feature wide semi-flaring lines, tight hips and bodices which are generally attached to the trousers. Pajama costumes have loose hip length coats.

Progress of Insurance Firm

General America Corporation Made Good Profit During Past Year

G. Percy Tinker, manager of G. P. Tinker & Company, Limited, stated yesterday that a story of very substantial progress during 1930 was disclosed at the annual stockholders meeting of the General America Corporation held January 29 at the home offices in Seattle.

The Corporation is holding vehicle for the General Insurance Company of America, First National Insurance Company of America, General Casualty Company of America and the American Insurance Agency.

The report submitted to the stockholders by H. K. Dent, president, states that the 1930 premium income of the General America Companies exceeded $8,000,000. The consolidated adjusted net profit of the four companies, after dividends to participating stockholders of more than $250,000 and writing off depreciation on more than $9,000,000 of investments, totalled $307,896. Dividends paid to stockholders during 1930 called for $210,000 the report revealed.

The stockholders heard that the volume of insurance written by the General America Companies decreased only one-tenth of one per cent in 1930 as compared with the previous year, this slight decrease being in large part due to the fact that throughout the year the company's agencies had been instructed to strive for quality rather than quantity in selecting risks to be written. Mr. Tinker in commenting on the healthy condition of the companies he represents in Prince Rupert and adjacent territory, stated further that these companies are sponsoring, this year, in co-operation with their agencies, an aggressive campaign of advertising in Canadian newspapers, intended to inform the public on modern developments in sound insurance protection. The Daily News has been selected to carry these messages to the community, Mr. Tinker stated.
