Cape Swain Sank Total Loss in Prince Rupert Harbor on Wednesday

Capt. Hugh Miller and His Men Sawing Wood When Blaze and Explosion Occurred—Was 33 ft., Built in Seattle

The well known Prince Rupert halibut boat Cape Swain was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon in Tucks Inlet at the head of Prince Rupert harbor. Captain Hugh Miller, the skipper and owner, and two men who were accompanying him had gone ashore to cut wood and it was during their absence that the vessel caught fire and burned to the water's edge. The explosion of a gas tank helped to complete the destruction of the vessel, which finally sank in deep water. The FLYERS ARE men rowed into Prince Rupert.

The Cape Swain, which Captain Miller took over last spring from Capt. Sinclair (Red) Pierce, now on the Eric Boy, was built in 1917 at der United States registry. Later she was transferred to Canadian registry and Prince Rupert her home port for many years. The vessel was 33 feet in length with beam of 10 feet and depth of 4 feet 9 inches. She was equipped with a 30-h.p. Enterprise gasoline engine. The loss in the destruction of the
