SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little wearing, a lovely green voile—an imported dress—lost color so completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it mended Diamond Dyes. To make a beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just 15c-the price of one package of Diamond

"I have since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are redyed at all!" Mrs. R.F., Quebec.

STAMPEDE

Creeks North of Prince George Attract Interest

News which has trickled through from the north regarding the latest excitement, indicates the scene of the latest finds is along the creeks flowing north and south from the divide between the Finlay and Liard Rivers and the starting point is Mc-Leod Lake.

In preparation for extensive prospecting of the creeks in the northern section of the Omineca district, caches have been established, boats built and camps made by Seattle and Victoria syndicates who have moved supplies and men into an area practically unknown to the white man.

According to Richard Corless of Prince George, who is one of the syndicate backing the latest exploration, men and supplies have been taken in a few hours to a section of the country which would take 22 days by foot.

"We are not making a sensation of our plans," said Mr. Corless. There have been some remarkable discoveries and, of course, we are keeping them secret for the present. A rush would be inadvisable because it is a hard country and a long distance to carry supplies, except by airplane, which is the method we have adopted. Just at present I've little to say about our

Mr. Corless recently went to Vancouver to meet Los Angeles men

Another of the backers of the latest exploration who was in Vancouver last week was Alex Capewell, of Spray, 25,000, Cold Storage, 7.3c Seattle, a former Klondyker who made the overland trip into the Bonanza, 8,500, Pacific, 9.2c and Klondyke in 1898. On that hazardous trip he made discoveries which Discovery, 10,000, Atlin, 9.1c and he has attempted to locate since and has finally succeeded, accord-Garland, 7,000, Cold Storage, 8.6c ing to reports, and some go so far as to say another Klondyke has been discovered. It was Capewell who on the trail of '98 froze his toes Ternen, 8,500, and Cape Spear, and amputated one himself with a jack-knife. Dr. Alfred Thompson, a Gony, 10,500, and Gulvik, 13,000, well known Yukoner, amputated another of Capewell's toes when civilization, such as it was, was
