CAPITAL AND LABOR INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL

Lieut. Joseph Clearihue Lectures on Subject in Victoria Recently.

Scientific management and the establishment of a provincial industrial parliament offer the solution to the present industrial difficulties in the opinion of Lieut. Joseph B. Clearihue, in an address at Victoria on the subject of co-operation between capital and labor. He outlined his plan very concretely, giving the various matters which would be dealt with by the organization which he thought it advisable to form.
In opening, the speaker said: "No one can accumulate anything whatever without becoming a capitalist. I believe that there should be two returns, one for labor and one for accumulated capital. I do not advocate state ownership. You cannot abolish private ownership without abolishing all accumulations of wealth."

An open forum where capital and labor might discuss their problems, a place where workers would be given their fundamental right to have a voice in the conditions under which they labored, was necessary. An industrial parliament would supply this need, said the speaker.

"The assembly would be composed of representatives of capital and labor equally divided, and representing the various industrial divisions," continued Lieut. Clearihue. The parliament, he said, should be divided up into committees, one for each of the industries, and these committees should be authorities on matters relating to their special fields. Certain powers must be allotted to this parliament by the Government of the Province, and the new body must have paid officials and a permanent home. It would deal with questions of wages, hours, conditions, etc., and would have the power to legislate for industries as a whole. Employers and employees must be organized into unions.

How to Foil Wind and Weather on Washday

From now until spring a battle that endangers health must on washday be waged with rain and sleet.

That, or drying the washing in the cellar or attic, with its attendant inconvenience and sour smells.

Of course we can not order weather to our fancy, but if you would laugh at mud and water, save your health and keep your hands and face free from chapping and roughness, telephone us.

Next, bundle up your family washing and have our driver call for it.

In our laundry your things are initialed where the mark never shows. Everything is sorted, too—table linen is washed only with table linen, hosiery with hosiery. There is no indiscriminate mixing. And it is laundered in fleecy suds of silky softness.

The weather, and the hardship of fall and winter washing need never be a source of worry. Use your telephone and let us help you.
