COST OF LIVING

At the Rotary luncheon yesterday the manager of Malkin's wholesale grocery firm showed that the cost on staples alone had been reduced twenty per cent. Possibly on all classes of goods the reduction is greater.

Complaint is being made and made justly, that some lines of business have not reduced prices as much here as at other places. In other words Prince Rupert is looked upon as an expensive town. This has been particularly noticeable in regard to the cost of meats and bread. Now the bakers have cut their prices very considerably and the butchers, it is understood, have made some reductions, doubtless very soon there will be an equalization. In some lines of business the same prices are being charged here as elsewhere.

It is not good for a city to have the reputation of being expensive but at the same time it is noted that a cheap town is often the poorest town in which to live.

A FREE ADVERTISEMENT

The London Cafeteria of Vancouver has a striking advertisement in a Vancouver newspaper from which we are pleased to quote the following: "Prince Rupert Grows. You don't hear enough about Prince Rupert but it grows with the years. Those Prince Rupert people who see the northern port as a big city some day are right, say we, and they are also right when on their visits to Vancouver they make their eating headquarters at the London Cafeteria."

We are glad to give this advertisement to the London in exchange for the publicity they have given Prince Rupert. Often others see us better than we see ourselves.

SUCCESSION DUTIES

The way to bring people to British Columbia is to give them the earth and tax them nothing, according to some people. However, we do not want population at that price. One of the members of the Legislature advises the elimination of the succession duties, one of the most democratic methods of taxation in existence. His reason for so doing would be to induce wealthy persons to settle in a part of the country where they could hand their wealth on to their children without payment of any of it to the state.

In Britain the succession duty is very high and also in some other countries. It tends against the accumulation of great wealth. British Columbia can well afford to take a reasonable amount in the same way.

It is often stated that the worst handicap a boy can have is to be left a large sum of money by relatives. If this is true, it is a great benefit to the parties most interested when the state takes part of the legacy in succession duties. To abolish this tax on the rich and to place a one per cent. tax on the poor is hardly in line with modern tendencies.

ONE PER CENT INCOME TAX.

Editor, Daily News.
Re the new provincial income tax plan whereby all incomes less than $12 per week, those receiving Mother's Pensions, Old Age Pensions, War Disability Pensions and allowances and "Incomes" from the Operation of a Farm are exempt. The Dominion Government say that the average cost of a family per week stands at about $26.60. This seems to say that our own provincial officials do not keep in touch with the cost of living. But the idea, it seems, is to get the money at any cost, but get it. Now, to my mind, this is working an injustice on a lot of the poorer folks. Where the burden is already heavy enough.

For instance. There are cases here in Prince Rupert of families who are just getting by on $60 a month. When we look at the family budget, we find no allowance for clothing, insurance, etc.

Again, we will go back to some of the young people who get $50 per month to begin with, with decent board and room at $40.00 per month; which leaves the sum of $10 for clothes, insurance, etc. It does not leave much for pleasure, let alone taxes.

I notice that you quote Mr. Hinchcliffe as saying that the burden would be carried by imported labor, people without property, etc. Anybody to read this at a glance would think that these classifications never paid any taxes at all.

Now the tenant of a house pays taxes indirectly through his rent. The worker also pays for any business tax, which is paid out by the storekeepers, as neither landlords or storekeepers are benevolent institutions.

And last, but not least, there are other sources of taxation that the males pay, such as the poll tax and road tax. So on summing up the honorable gentleman's method of raising taxes, I think there are other ways of raising taxes beside taxing the lower paid man or woman, who have practically only a pittance. I will now close with a few words from the Good Book: "He that oppresseth the poor reproaches his Maker; but he that honoureth Him hath mercy on the poor."

Musical Meeting Greatly Enjoyed

Large Attendance at Gathering Last Evening in Salvation Army Citadel

There was another good-sized gathering at the Salvation Army Citadel last night for the weekly musical meeting. The congregation enjoyed old and new hymns and Rev. J. Kennedy, who has presided at a number of such meetings during the past winter, gave a farewell address. Capt. E. Warren presided at the piano and there were solos in Norwegian by Mrs. Carlson. Commandant William Kerr presided.

At the close of the meeting, coffee and doughnuts were served.

W. J. Barrie presided at the meeting of the school board on Wednesday night in the absence of Mrs. T. M. Spencer, the chairman. Others present were Trustees J. J. Gillis, L. W. Waugh and W. J. Greer and Secretary J. O. Williamson as well as the principals of the schools.

BANK ON STEAMER

Precedent Set as Prince Robert Carried Branch on South American Tour

MONTREAL, March 13.—Setting what students of Canadian banking history believe to be a precedent, the Canadian National liner Prince Robert recently became a bank branch in itself. The liner is now in South-American waters with the Canadian goodwill and trade mission to South America and had reached Pernambuco, Brazil, when the innovation took place. Observing that the Canadian trade mission consisted of influential and wealthy Canadians, the Royal Bank of Canada arranged with the Canadian National steamship to instal a branch aboard the Prince Robert during the liner's stay at Pernambuco.

So successful was the experiment that the same bank arranged to have a staff man travel with the ship from Montevideo to Buenos Aires, scene of the British Empire Exhibition.

C. C. Pineo, supervisor of South American branches for the Royal Bank of Canada, is a member of the trade mission aboard the Prince Robert, he introduced the idea of a Canadian Bank Branch aboard. Already numerous calls have been made at the teller's cage aboard ship and business will be especially brisk on March 13, the day of arrival at Buenos Aires, where passengers will need pocket money for a stay of 11 days. The Prince Robert branch of the Royal Bank of Canada is but one of 902 branches which the firm maintains throughout the world. It is recalled that the family of the builders of the first ocean liner, Sir Samuel Cunard of Halifax, Nova Scotia, was intimately associated with the founding of the Merchants' Bank of Halifax which later became the Royal Bank of Canada.

got to work, the present down price of 10c and 7c. might have to be amended but it was expected at all times to have an arrangement that would be satisfactory to the whole fleet. The co-operative principle would at all times, of course, prevail with the profits being distributed among the fishermen.

Officers of the United Pacific Fisheries, Mr. Kwapil announced, are:

F. J. Kwapil, president and general manager

O. K. Strizek (president of the American Exchange Bank, Seattle), secretary-treasurer.

George E. Listram (banker and member of the executive board of the Labor Temple), vice-president.

Mr. Kwapil sailed by the Prince George last night on the ss. Prince George on his return to Seattle. Mr. Berg will be here for the next few days in connection with the inauguration of the local branch.

He will grow up strong and healthy

EVERY mother dreams of her baby's future. She pictures the years ahead—sees him growing up through sturdy, healthy childhood to strong, vigorous manhood.

What baby will become depends very largely upon that service of love even more important than the tiny garments so carefully chosen. During the weeks before baby arrives the expectant mother will make quite sure that she will be able to feed baby herself.

So much depends upon this! In babyhood are laid the foundations of future health and happiness. No substitute is equal to maternal milk for giving baby a sound start in life. And no substitute so surely safeguards a child against nutritional diseases, such as rickets.

Doctors, nurses and mothers daily testify to the remarkable value of "Ovaltine" in promoting adequate lactation

When this delicious beverage is taken before the birth the milk is sufficient in quantity and rich in quality. Even when only taken after the birth the use of "Ovaltine" has quickly effected a radical change in the quality and quantity of the milk. "Ovaltine", moreover, maintains the mother's strength while nursing and ensures a quick return to normal health.

"Ovaltine" is prepared from Nature's foods which are richest in nutriment—ripe barley malt, creamy milk and eggs. It is quickly prepared and easily digested.

There is no food beverage comparable with "Ovaltine". It is the richest in food value, the most economical in use.

Ovaltine is sold at all good stores, in 50c, 75c, $1.25 and special $4.50 family size tins, also served at soda fountains.
