INJUSTICE TO PRINCE RUPERT

Once more Prince Rupert has a protest to make against the action of some Vancouver people. Owing to their influence a handicap has been placed on the port of Prince Rupert which will make it very difficult to ship grain during the winter months. In effect it is declared that the port of Vancouver is safer than Prince Rupert and therefore ships loading at this port must not load as heavily as those sailing from the southern B. C. port. The difference is sufficient to make it very difficult, if not impossible, to ship grain from Prince Rupert during the winter months. In the summer all ports are equal.

Vancouver people are the only ones who know the conditions on this coast, and no other advice could be taken in making the ruling. Powell River has been included in the new zone, but Ocean Falls is not, and neither is Ketchikan.

Mariners who know the coast well say that Prince Rupert is just as safe for winter shipping as Vancouver. It is the only possible competing port and as such has been placed under such a handicap that it is practically ruled out in the matter of wheat carrying.

The arrangement is an international one, but it is made on the advice of each government concerned, and each government has to ratify it before it can become effective. The federal government ratified this arrangement in spite of the fact that Hon. H. H. Stevens expressed much concern over it and stated to local people that he was strongly opposed to the new arrangement.

The arrangement was made without Prince Rupert knowing anything about it until all the details had been settled.

The federal government is now being asked to secure a change in the regulations which would include Prince Rupert in the same load line regulation as Vancouver, thus removing the handicap.

The suggestion that it is Vancouver advice which caused the arrangement to be made is well founded. Vancouver is the leading port on the Pacific, and as such the officials of that port would be asked for advice. Also Hon. H. H. Stevens is a resident of Vancouver, and he is the cabinet member representing British Columbia in the federal government.

HELP THE UNEMPLOYED

While we do not think the unemployed should be subject to the condition under which they have to take old clothes and old boots from those who find themselves with more than they need, we ask that under the present condition those having old things should turn them over to the Salvation Army for distribution.

The city has arranged that on Thursday of this week a collection will be made from all who notify the Salvation Army that they have such things.

Many men and women have clothes that they do not need. If they will collect them into a bundle and telephone the Salvation Army the collection will be made.

The clothes are very badly needed just now. Some of the men have not enough clothes to wear to work, and some wives have not proper clothes for themselves and their children. As a palliative the collection of unused clothes should prove useful.

HOW ABOUT THE FISHERMEN THIS WINTER?

Editor, Daily News:

The fishing season is practically over, and the boys are gravitating back to the city, and many there be who literally stare a spectre before them. It has been oftentimes said to be cheerful, but facts are stubborn things, and have the tendency to dangle before our eyes, no matter how much we may desire not to visualize them.

The season has been a failure, and the city knows it, and of a truth "the beggars are coming to town." What are we going to do with them? They have been through hardship not realized by many, in an earnest endeavor to pay their own way, and the harvest (financial returns) are slim if existent at all.

Many of these fishermen live on their own boats, and can find their own means of livelihood during the coming season if the opportunity is given them. Coupled with this thought is the vital fact, that they will be unable to go into any labor camp, and risk their boats to the mercy of the elements.

Why not provide these men with staples for the winter, which in the individual aggregate, would not exceed 40 to 50 dollars, and give them a chance to return to nature for the balance. We have all heard of the proverbial clams and mowitch, but tea, sugar, flour, beans and pork, etc., are non-existent to the versatile fisherman on the beach.

The government appears to be willing to give a 40 cent per diem hand out, and a hundred days of such would furnish these staples to all who need them, and permit them to live twice as long if given free range. Yes, Mr. Editor, the fishermen can offer no apology for their position, the winter will be long, and if the writer is not mistaken, much cheap fish has been stored away, which will materially lengthen the said winter, and I predict that the fishermen will find it unprofitable to go to sea at an early date next spring.

These deer, ducks, etc., which belong to the people, are not procurable but by the use of fire-arms and many of these indigent fishermen are unable to pay for a license to hunt. Yet no doubt, hunt they will, license or not, for an empty stomach balks at Governmental regulations, and it will take a whole army of game wardens to exact the letter of the law. I suggest of course registration of all in this position, and it to be considered criminal to carry fire-arms other than under such conditions. The law as it now stands is monstrous. Any person carrying a gun in his boat, that person penniless, and unable to buy a license, the said boat the only habitation the person has, can have his gun confiscated, even tho he register, and desire a permit.

In this instance he is punished for being penniless, while the penniless hand, the Government, realizes his position.

Why adopt the policy of Uncle Sam, and make honest men criminals? Let us clear the decks, and get down to a business administra-

IS FINE COMEDY

Leslie Henson Scores Great Hit in "A Warm Corner"

The British comedy "A Warm Corner," which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, is proving of exceptional interest here since it brings on the screen a renewal of acquaintance with Leslie Henson, famous English comedian whom many have seen in person in the theatres of London. Many returned men recall Henson as one of the greatest of war-time entertainers. Of course, he is well known to a "Old Country" people.

As for "A Warm Corner" itself, it is known as one of the outstanding of British screen comedies. It is adapted from the play of the same name which ran for years in the Prince's Theatre in London. The comedy is broad and never subtle and the play simply sparkles with witty sallies, rushing along with a constant stream of action and frequent changes of scene. The story, too, keeps one interested all the time which is often not the case in comedy features.

Such pictures as "A Warm Corner" help to raise the comedy feature into a new plane of real entertainment for all tastes.

tion of such matters, and the path-way of all will be made smoother than heretofore.

Yours sincerely,
CHARLES LORD.

SAGO TEHONIATARAKAKOWA!

"Greetings, Chief Swiftest Rider Of Mighty Waters"

Honours have been heaped upon Captain R. G. "Jock" Latta, commander of the trans-Atlantic record liner Empress of Britain since his new 42,500 vessel regained the Blue Ribbon of the Atlantic for the British Empire by all classes of people but none have been more sincerely offered than the recent tribute of the Six Nations Indians.

Encamped at Loretteville, Quebec, where they are establishing a village in which the ancient arts of the redman are practiced, members of the Six Nations under the leadership of 81 year old Chief Wolverine recently honoured the Canadian Pacific Commodore by adopting him into the tribes and conferring chieftainship upon him as a tribute to his feats of seamanship with the big white "war-canoes." Meeting the Empress of Britain in their gaily decorated birch-bark canoes a score of braves and Squaws, led by Wolverine, Running Bull, American Horse and Princess White Eagle, danced their ceremonial dance on the Games Deck of the mighty liner, stood in reverent silence while the old Chief invoked the great spirits and rent the air with their whoops as Princess White Eagle and Chief Wolverine crowned the new chief with a war bonnet of eagle's feathers.
