SEAL COVE MARINE WAYS OPEN SOON

Ground Broken and Machinery Purchased for New Concern at Seal Cove.

Ground is already broken for the construction of the new plant for the Seal Cove Marine Ways, Ltd., at Shawatlans Passage just beyond the sawmill at Seal Cove. W. E. Thompson, the secretary and general manager of the concern, returned from Vancouver a few days ago after purchasing machinery and equipment. The new plant it is expected will be in operation on or before February 1.

The plant will include a marine ways on the cradle of which boats up to 100 feet in length will be hauled out and repaired. It will also include a complete boat building plant where large and small boats and scows will be built or repaired. There will be a general repair shop, woodworking, blacksmithing, and machine shops. The site adjoins the proposed fish wharf.

At the present time the way to the site is by water or by way of the G. T. P. railway grade. It is expected, however, that the city will build a road to the new fish wharves and this will also serve the shops.

The personnel of the new company includes A. Swanson, president; W. E. Thompson, secretary and general manager; Wilfrid Kelly, Lawrence Halcrow, and Emery Lewis, J. Thomas. All of these, with the exception of Swanson, will take an active part in the work of the ways, where it is expected ten men will be employed.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:—

THAT civic elections are becoming quite popular as a subject of conversation.

THAT Alderman Casey is said to be in the running for the mayoralty.

THAT a dozen others could be mentioned as possibles and several as probables.

THAT it is generally understood Mayor McClymont will be a starter and he seems to be one of the favorites in the betting.

THAT happily the Christmas festivities will shorten the campaign to a few days.

THAT Christmas is a much more interesting subject than elections.

THAT "buy today" is a good motto for all shoppers.

THAT anyone who is not a shopper should be, at this time of the year.

THAT I don't know whether any of you folks noticed it but my mouth dimpled the other day when I heard that some of the other planets were organizing to give the human race the K.O. Honestly it tickled me so much I turned around and told old Jude about it. He told me that all the points were worn off that chestnut and to kindly give him something new as you people had been getting worked up over that same thing away back before Venus got in that G. T. P. R. (Great Trans-Planetic Railway) accident and lost her arm. Even if the world did get pushed out of the universe it would serve you mortals right for pulling that joke about me getting full on my last quarter. The joke's on you and I'll tell you why. You remember the cow that jumped over me on one occasion. Well, she tried again later and got stuck up here, so now I take my liquid refreshment the Milky Way.

THAT I was smiling down on the Prince George as she got away from Vancouver this week, and as she steamed past Brockton Point with the Narrows lights just ahead some of the passengers stood on the deck and watched the city with its advertisements printed against the sky, recede. I noticed a Rupert man standing at the rail with a prairie farmer, a man with a talking machine that did not need windings, and apparently broke all records. "You know," he confided, "if I was ever to take up some other work I believe I would go to sea. After being away from the prairies for some time the sight of the sea is welcome because the ocean so much reminds one of the prairies." And the Rupert man was heard to respond that yes he had heard of the rolling prairie and of course the old sea dogs would take the place of the prairie dogs.

"SCARLET PIMPERNEL" AT THE WESTHOLME

Great Story of Fair Women and Brave Men in Time of Trouble
Associated with Name of Wayside Flower.

Full of excitement and thrills as "the novel upon which the photoplay is founded, "The Scarlet Pimpernel" to be shown at the Westholme Theatre tonight, is sure to satisfy the most critical. The story itself is most interesting and brought fame to its writer, the Baroness Orczy. It tells of how some of the gentlemen of the south of England used to slip across to France during the time of the French Terror and assist in the escape of the French refugees. How they were able to get in and out of France, notwithstanding the strict watch kept, and how their daring and resourcefulness in the face of extreme danger met its reward are thrilling shown on the screen.

Those who have read the novel will delight in the photoplay, and those who have not already will want to get the book.
