

SAVE YOUR SIGHT

EYESIGHT—The most valuable of all the senses—is the most neglected and the least understood. Many suffer from it, which, upon examination, can be traced directly to defective eyesight.

The removal of the cause will often restore the delicate and run-down sufferer to robust health. When glasses are properly prescribed, they restore the vision to normal and eliminate all eye strain.

HEALTH OFFICIALS WARN THE PUBLIC

Prompt Treatment of Every Case of Cold is Advised.

When the flu epidemic swept the country last year it was generally agreed by medical men that there would be a recurrence of the attack this winter. So far it has not except with the violence of last year but there is hardly any large community in which it is not present to some degree.

In view of the ever present danger of the disease breaking out health authorities are everywhere advising the public to observe extraordinary precautions. One of their first advices is to treat all cases of colds as dangerous, the conditions in such cases being similar to those in the first stages of flu.

For the treatment of colds there is no precaution equal to Grip Fix, which may be secured at any drug-store. It is not a patent medicine but a treatment which would be approved by your family physician. The drugs it contains are stated on every box and cover just the drugs needed in such cases. Grip Fix is not a new preparation as it has been in use for many years, doing wonderful work during last year's flu epidemic. It comes in convenient capsule form and when buying is sure to get Reid's Grip Fix as there is nothing "just as good." It sells for 35 cents per box and is worth its price over and over when a cold appears. On sale at all druggists.

other people ridiculed him, Byron had early become acquainted with the sorrows and discouragements of life. His mother had been an heiress, but his father was dissolute and greedy. Before Byron had reached fifteen years the father had squandered the mother's fortune and decamped, leaving mother and son in dire financial straits. This had tended to reflect on the mother's disposition and no doubt accounted for the reputation which she bears in history of being a termagant and changeable. The boy made no friends but had acquired a deep and lasting love for nature which was manifested in his poem, Loch Nagar.

Critics After Him.

His first volume of poems was published when he was 21 years of age. It met with a torrent of adverse criticism in the old Tory critic, the Edinburgh Review. This was met by Byron with a powerful reply and the literary world of Europe realized that here was a force to be contended with, a power to be put down. Byron was then made the victim of public opinion and all the evil that could be scraped up against him was used with the result that he soon gained the reputation of a vile, absolute inebriate. His name was spoken of with horror as a thing unclean and on his first appearance in the House of Lords he was treated with cold disdain. The remarkable speech made on that occasion met with applause. His reputation was not enhanced by the testimony of his young wife who left him a few days after their first child was born and added to the talk of ignominy against him.

In Revolution.

Meeting with no encouragement or friendship in his native land, Byron went to the continent. He was in France at the time of the Revolution and went through its horrors, but supported the cause of the rebels although he did correct them in their revenge, stating that they were drunk with slaughter. He spent some time in Italy and Switzerland and in the former country was led into a body of soldiers which he believed had a purpose of national uplift in view, but which turned out to be nothing more than banditti. In Switzerland he wrote several wonderful poems on the natural grandeur and power of the Alps.

It was in Greece where he

The True Spirit of Christmas lies in The NEW EDISON

Christmas is for everybody; so is The New Edison. Christmas brings happiness to young and old; so does The New Edison. Christmas comes but once a year, however, while The New Edison is ready every day—every hour—to charm you, entertain you, uplift you and satisfy your craving for good music.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

RE-CREATES the entire world of music. It brings to your home all that the most famous singers, instrumentalists and musical organizations could bring, except only their physical presence.

If you have never heard The New Edison, you have never heard RE-CREATED music. An Edison RE-CREATION means something entirely different from talking machines and ordinary phonographic records.

For your pleasure; for the pleasure and education of your children; for the enjoyment of your friends; let the New Edison be your Christmas gift this year.

Come in and examine the beautiful models—hear the art of your favorite singers and instrumentalists RE-CREATED—or, better yet, let us send The New Edison to your home to test at your leisure. No obligation, of course.

Charles W. Teetzel, - Prince Rupert

finally met with public support and found an object to enthuse his idealistic desires. He shamed the Greeks to arise from their thralldom to Turkey and worked both physically and mentally towards liberating them. He died at Missolonghi at the age of 36 but the consummation of his desires was in sight and Greece was freeing herself. After his death Europe realized his worth and even tardy old England was at last forced to admit that Byron was one of the greatest factors in the life of Europe, both as a reformer and a poet.

Music.

A delightful musical program was given last night and at 11 o'clock refreshments provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the society were provided. The orchestra consisting of Harry Harvey, J. Brough, R. Arthur, Jr., and Miss H. M. Crux, played acceptably at the opening and closing. Songs were sung by R. Robertson, S. Massey, J. Sinclair, A. Clapperton and W. H. Wilson Murray. J. Brough played a violin solo very acceptably. The president in closing the gathering suggested that the ladies assist in the next musical program.

Crowded with passengers from Alaskan points desirous of spending the winter in the south, the Princess Mary passed through Prince Rupert this morning at 4 o'clock. This is the last boat from Alaska before Christmas. The Mary picked up about half a dozen passengers here.

The Princess Royal is 24 hours late this week and will not arrive from Vancouver until tomorrow morning. The delay was caused by the steamer being unable to get coal quickly enough at Union Bay. The Royal will leave for the south as soon as she can get away after arrival.
