REGISTERING UNEMPLOYED

The needy unemployed are to be registered, it is announced. This is the first step toward the institution of an entirely new method of dealing with the present condition by the Victoria and Ottawa governments. It matters little whether the registering is done by provincial or federal governments so long as the work is carried out promptly and well.

The announcement, which comes from Victoria, is reassuring to those who feared that a policy of drift might be adopted. Dr. Tolmie will get the full support of the people in any reasonable scheme for alleviating the condition with which the country is faced. He and Mr. Bennett are the men to whom we have to look in this crisis and their future politically will depend to a large extent on the manner in which they handle the affairs of the country during this difficult time.

The Victoria government is now awaiting action from Ottawa and they promise that as soon as they receive word that Parliament has ratified the proposed plan of federal assistance to provincial works, registration will commence. In other words, Victoria puts it up to Ottawa.

The Royal Russian Chorus of 40 persons, which will give a recital here tonight to which local music lovers have been looking forward, will arrive, it is expected, from the south this afternoon on their own boat. After the recital here tonight, they will proceed to Alaska and are due back to give another performance in Prince Rupert on Friday evening of next week.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

"How Thankful
I am
that Bob kept up his Life Insurance"

"It's hard enough to realize that my two children now have no father, but I can't bear to think what would happen to them and to me if we had given up the protection of Life Insurance.

"When Bob was employed only part time we had to scrimp to make ends meet. It was a big temptation to cancel some of our Life Insurance—but Bob said it was our only safeguard against the future.

"I know now that Bob was right. Life Insurance money has made us independent of charity. It has enabled me to give the children food, clothing and a mother's care.

"Money can never take Bob's place as a husband and father—but his Life Insurance helps us to carry on. It is truly the 'love that never dies'."

YOU may be faced with the difficulty of keeping your Life Insurance. If so, before imperiling the future of yourself and family, get the helpful counsel of your own Life Insurance Representative.
