FIVE THOUSAND DEAD IN MANAGUA

NEW FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS MADE BY U.P. FISHERIES

Sixteen Halibut Boats Unload Catches Under More Definite Terms

Down Price Remains Same as Before With Canadian and American Boats Both Getting 10c and 7c

Halibut landings here today totalled 125,000 pounds, all of the 16 boats which were in with catches disposing of them to the United Pacific Fisheries which was reported to have made new and more satisfactory financial arrangements than those which have so far been existing. The down price was, however, still the same for American and Canadian fish. In these new arrangements, United Pacific Fisheries was reported to have obtained the backing of four of the largest fish handling concerns in the United States. The new arrangements were made by F. J. Kwapi, president, and J. E. Berg of Ketchikan, manager for Ketchikan and Prince Rupert jointly on a recent visit to Chicago.

The boats unloading catches today are: Canadian—Cape Spencer, 9,000 pounds; Borgund, 3,500; Capella, 11,000; Melville, 13,000; J. R., 5,000; Toodle, 4,000; Cape Swain, 5,000; Ingrid H., 4,000; Gulvik, 9,000; Viking, 4,000; Pair of Jacks, 5,000; Lysekil, 22,000; Edward Lipssett, 6,000; Covenant, 13,000. American—Pierce, 7,000; Tahoma, 10,000.

Frank Dorbrandt Lands His Plane Among Volcanoes

Frank Dorbrandt, Arctic flyer, who took part in the Burke search, recently landed in the smoke and steam-enveloped heart of the volcanically active Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes on the Alaska Peninsula. It is believed to be the first time that an airplane had ever landed in a centre of active craters. Alone, he circled above the smoking valley, picked out a level spot and landed in the midst of the craters. After taking photographs, he took off and circled Mount Katmai, the largest active volcano of the group. The floor of the valley is partly mud and ash and partly molten sand. The overland route to the valley is through a devastated country.

Consolidated Mining Airmen Have Flown Nearly 425,000 Miles

Airmen of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, engaged in aerial exploration, have flown approximately 425,000 miles since the inception of the service in the winter of 1928-29. W. G. Jewitt of that company stated in an address at the annual general meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Ottawa recently. In the thousands of miles travelled there had been no serious injury to the personnel, he stated. Prince Albert, Sask.; The Pas, Man.; Sioux Lookout, Ont.; Seneterre, Que.; and Burns Lake, B.C., have been used as bases for aerial exploration, he stated, and the operations of the staff extended and enlarged. The planes were used for reconnaissance, prospecting, examination of properties and supply of properties. The use of the aircraft had aided in controlling and expediting the work of prospecting properties, he said.

Terrace Case Came Before Judge Young on Thursday Afternoon

TERRACE, April 4.—The case of Rex vs. G. Little, in which the defendant is accused of assaulting Rev. E. A. McCarthy, Anglican clergyman at Terrace, came up for hearing before Stipendiary Magistrate E. T. Kenney on Wednesday and the defendant was sent to trial at Prince Rupert.

In the course of his evidence Rev. McCarthy stated that the defendant called to him in the street and took exception to some remarks which he had made on the previous Sunday and struck him on the face, breaking his spectacles and afterwards kicking him between the legs. In consequence he had been confined to the house for a fortnight and was not yet out of the doctor's care.

T. J. Kirkpatrick gave evidence of witnessing the assault complained of and Dr. Mills testified as to the condition of the injured man which he concluded was occasioned by the assault.

Defendant, who left for Prince Rupert Thursday, declined to give evidence and reserved his defence.

Accused appeared before Judge Young in County Court Thursday afternoon and, pleading guilty to a charge of assault, was fined $100.
