RECEPTION FOR OSLAND GROOM

V. Grimson and Bride are Honored By Smith Islanders.

A very pleasant event took place at Osland Park, Smith Island, on Wednesday evening last when the residents of the settlement tendered a reception to V. Grimson and his bride. Mr. Grimson is a returned soldier and one of the pioneer residents of Osland Park. He returned recently from Montreal where he was wedded.

The reception took place in the school room, which was most artistically decorated with evergreens and berries, in keeping with the festive season. This work was undertaken by Miss Christopherson, teacher of the school, and her pupils. The festive board was set for fifty persons, including a number of friends from Prince Rupert.

Speeches were made at the supper table by Messrs. Snidal and Jonasson, followed by an address of welcome and the presentation of a handsome clock by the residents. The guests were then delightfully entertained by a program consisting of drills, marches, dialogues and music rendered by the school children who showed careful training.

Mr. Hallderson made a speech touching on the co-operation of school and home life. After this dancing and singing was indulged in. The jollity and pleasure of the occasion will long live in the memories of the attending guests.

VANCOUVER SOLOIST FOR COMING SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT

The next Sunday night orchestral concert to be given by the Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra has been arranged for January 4. It was expected that Miss Eva Hart, of Victoria, would be the vocal artiste, but her many engagements in Victoria around this season prevent her spending so much time on the trip north and again south just now. She expects, however, to appear before the Prince Rupert audience a little later.

The orchestra has secured the services of Miss Olga McAlpine, a soprano of considerable standing in Vancouver, where she is much sought after for choral societies for the solo parts. Miss McAlpine's reputation as a singer is such that ought to make her very acceptable in Prince Rupert, and this orchestral concert is being looked forward to by the members with considerable interest.

SPLENDID PLAY AT WESTHOLME TONIGHT

He found it very convenient to have a cough, particularly to demonstrate when there was a flurry of patriotic talk. It was a devoted, loyal cough, there at hand when needed, and disappearing as soon as circumstances might dismiss it. And because he had it, he became the leading character in "The Girl Who Stayed at Home," the latest Artercraft production by David Griffith, which will be shown at the Westholme Theatre tonight.

The role is presented by Robert Harron, whose friends won't be entirely acquainted with him until they have seen this film, for in this portrayal he is a lighter, happier, more mischievous person than they have known, a real comedian and athlete.

The character Mr. Harron portrays is one of the most vivid in our national life of the last decade, one of astounding impudence and apparent uselessness, yet drawn after all from the fine fabric of true citizenship. Around this character Mr. Griffith has draped those revealing incidents with irresistible finesse, and with Mr. Harron for his medium, offers another character for the world to remember.

Constable W. S. Ackroyd, Who Relieves Him, Has Distinguished War Record.

Warden A. H. Bailey, of the city police, received a sudden call last week to the Old Country and last night left on the Prince Rupert to commence the journey. He will probably be gone a couple of months and will be relieved during his absence by Constable W. S. Ackroyd, formerly of the Vancouver and Toronto forces. Constable Ackroyd is a real war veteran, having served with the famous Princess Patricia's. He enlisted on the first day of the war and was in France till September, 1918, having been wounded at Langemark and Ypres.

Action of Big Five Packers Not Suitable to Grocers.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—The National Wholesale Grocers Association has made the decision that it will not drop suit against the Big Five Packers. The Big Five had agreed to sell out all their interests excepting in the meat business to avoid prosecution under the anti-trust law, but evidently this has not been accepted by the Grocers Association and the prosecution is to be proceeded with.
