NEW CLUB IS FORMED

Skeena Badminton Club is Organized During Week

The Skeena Badminton Club was formed during the past week with the following officers:

President, H. L. Shadwell.
Vice-president, Shelford Darton.
Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Robert Blance.

Executive, Mrs. Robert Bartlett, C. J. Norrington and William Currie. Having taken over that club the new club has rented the I.O.D.E. hall for the season and play will commence on October 1. The official opening will take place on Saturday evening with an American tournament.

The Skeena Club had well over fifty applications on hand but, as it was decided at the general meeting that one court could not satisfactorily accommodate more than thirty-five members, the membership has been limited to the latter number. At an executive meeting it was decided that the dues of the members must be paid on or before October 5, those failing to do so would automatically lose their standing and their places be filled from the waiting list.

Relief Workers Go on Strike at Blairmore, Alta.

EDMONTON, Sept. 29.—Relief workers on a highway project at Paesburg, in the Crowstern near Blairmore, went on strike, demanding higher pay, and the provincial government has given its answer that no higher rate will be paid and that if work is not resumed at once the project will be discontinued and the men cut off the relief list, says the Edmonton Journal.

The local mine workers' union under whose direction the strike seems to have been organized, wired a protest to the government against the wages now being paid, namely 30 cents an hour, and asking that this be raised to 50 cents. In the meantime the road has been picketed and a minority of the workers, who were willing to continue at the going rate, are being prevented from doing so by the strike committee.

SPORT CHAT

There is a possibility that D. G. Bradman, the great Australian cricketer, may go to England to play in Lancashire League cricket. It was stated recently that he had informed the Accrington club that he is willing to sign a two years' contract. The Accrington club have replied that they agree to this, and they are awaiting Bradman's confirmation of the contract. The terms of the agreement have not yet been published but it is understood that Bradman will receive $100 a week. H. Rylance, after a meeting of the Lancashire County Cricket Club at Manchester, stated that the committee knew nothing of the supposed suggestions that Bradman should play for Lancashire after a qualifying period of two years in League cricket.

Canadians in the more important centres of the Dominion are to have the opportunity this fall of seeing a demonstration of the new and radically different physical training system, the fundamental gymnastics of Prof. Niels Bukh of Ollerup, Denmark, it was announced recently by H. Hergel, vice-consul of Denmark. Prof. Bukh with a party of 25 young men and women is now in Japan, giving a series of demonstrations of his physical training methods at the expense of the Japanese Government and will return to Denmark through Canada. Mr. Hergel stated Prof. Bukh's college at Ollerup is part of the Danish Folk High School system, and the program presented will be an indication of other sides of the school work as well as gymnastics, as they include singing games, folk dances in national costume and part singing in addition to agility exercises and jumping. The value of Prof. Bukh's courses has been enthusiastically endorsed by many leading British educational, health and military authorities.

SOFTBALL WAS CLOSE

Stinech's Team Defeats Smith's, 10 to 9, in High School League

In a closely contested game of softball at the High School yesterday, Dido Stinech's team defeated Carl Smith's team by the score of 10-9. Heavy hitting featured the game, and this, coupled with loose fielding, accounted for the big score. Smith's team drew first blood, Moxley crossing the plate in the first inning. Stinech, however, soon broke into the score sheet and thereafter the score was very even for the entire game. Stinech's team winning in the last half of the fifth inning when Nakamoto scored Marshall. Stinech turned in the best game for the winners, while Blake put up the best performance for Smith's team. Batteries for the winners were Stinech and Church, and for Smith, Moxley and Kishimoto. The teams:

Stinech, Church, Welle, Emmelman, Marshall, Bussanich, H. Fisher, Wilson, Nakamoto.

Smith, Moxley, Christison, McCaffery, P. Fisher, Hanson, Blake, Murray, Kishimoto.

Umpire: R. Allen. Base umpire: W. Smith. Reporter: P. Edgcombe. Scorekeeper: N. Allen.

The game by innings:
Smith's team up. Moxley singled and after making first stole second. Hanson fled out to Marshall. Murray singled. Blake's sacrifice hit scored Moxley, while Kishimoto went out on an infield fly.

Stinech's team up: Fisher walked, Bussanich singled and stole second. Stinech singled. Fisher was put out on third. Wilson's two-bagger brought home Bussanich and Stinech and Marshall's single scored Wilson. Nakamoto fled out to Blake.

Second inning, Smith's team up: Fisher struck out. McCaffery and Christison got on bases with well placed singles. Moxley brought home McCaffery while Hanson's two-bagger scored Christison and Moxley. Hanson cleverly stole third and completed the job by coming home on a bad overthrow. Smith struck out.

Stinech's team up: Moxley walked. Christison caught Bussanich's hard single and threw out Fisher at second. Welle was out on interference with the ball.

Third inning, Smith's team up: Blake and Kishimoto both singled. Fisher's two-bagger scored Blake and Christison's sacrifice brought home Kishimoto. Fisher crossed the plate on Moxley's single and Hanson fled out.

Stinech's team up: Stinech walked and was out on second after Wilson singled. Wilson stole second. Church was walked and stole second. An overthrow to second enabled Wilson and Church to come home. Moxley walked Marshall, Bussanich singled and stole second, both he and Marshall scoring on Emmelman's sacrifice hit.

Fourth inning, Smith's team up: Moxley out at first; Hanson fled out to Nakamoto and Murray was put out at first. Stinech was pitching well at this stage of the game, getting good support.

Stinech's team up: Nakamoto, Fisher and Welle filled bases on singles. Stinech fled out to Hanson. Wilson's single scored Nakamoto while Fisher died on third. On Church's single Welle scored and Wilson was put out on second.

Fifth inning, Smith's team up: Smith struck out and Blake was out at first. Kishimoto singled, cleverly stole second and third and came home on Moxley's hit to bank, tying the score at 9 all. Fisher went out at first.

Stinech's team up: Marshall was walked and stole second. Emmelman went out at first. Nakamoto covered himself with glory by hitting safely, thereby scoring Marshall and winning the game.

NEWS OF THE MINES AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Metropolis Springs Up at Rainbow Creek—Duthie Takes Over Mortgage

A modest settlement of gold seekers is springing up at Rainbow Creek, scene of British Columbia's latest gold strike and objective of a new rush into the Omineca country. Those who are now at the creek are either building cabins or constructing sluices and other devices used in placer mining. There is now the semblance of a small village where a short time ago there was little more than a wilderness of pine trees and gravel.

How is the gold panning out? It is still pretty early to answer that question, but an encouraging sign is that most of those who have gone into Rainbow Creek this season have remained there. They are apparently determined to give the region a fair test. The pay consists of gold which is fairly coarse and black sand which assays have shown to contain values in fine gold, platinum and iridium, but the actual marketability of the last is still uncertain.

The most popular method of operating without machinery consists of setting up several lengths of sluice box, each length averaging about 12 to 18 inches in width and 10 to 12 feet in length, and having diverted a sufficient stream of water from the creek by means of ditches or flumes, the water is run through the boxes and the gravel shovelled in to be washed. The sluice boxes are paved with riffles, which are designed to catch the gold and heavy black sand, the remainder, worthless material, being carried away with the water. A good man picking and shovelling can probably wash six cubic yards of gravel daily. This is, of course, affected by many conditions, even such things as mosquitoes being sometimes an important factor, as there is no more definite deterrent to satisfactory work in the Rainbow Creek country, than this pest.

Taking as production an ounce of gold at sixteen dollars and assuming it to be produced from six yards of gravel, this would give a return of about $2.65 per yard. As anyone familiar with placer mining knows, this is unusually rich and it is not expected that such values are likely to prevail throughout the whole deposit. It is generally considered that properly situated ground can be worked by hydraulic methods as cheaply as eight cents a cubic yard, and ground which averages thirty to forty cents a yard is considered exceptionally rich. So until the high values are proven to remain consistent throughout the gravels on Rainbow Creek cannot be considered a Bonanza.
