The attention of the teller was distracted by a telephone call just at the crucial moment, a call believed to have been put in by an accomplice.

Nearly Three Million Women In Russia Were Engaged In Productive Work Last Year

Children Looked After By the State While Mothers Labor With Men in Many Callings

(By Stanley P. Richardson. Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, July 23:—Woman's role is becoming increasingly important in Soviet Russia's campaign for industrialization and agricultural development. Due to the shortage of labor, which grows more acute as each additional stride is made toward fulfillment of the five year plan, their services are being required more and more extensively not only in various professions and clerical capacities but as actual manual laborers.

In factories, in fields, in all forms of industrial and agricultural work, they labor side by side with the men, receiving the same pay and the same privileges for the same work.

To encourage wider induction of women into the ranks of workers,

SEES MUCH BEAUTY IN THE CITY

W. J. Alder Says Gardens Are Prettier in Prince Rupert Than Any He Has Seen

"Tell the people here I have walked all over the city during my visit and I have not seen prettier gardens anywhere than I have seen in Prince Rupert," declared W. J. Alder of Victoria, who has been here looking after repairs to his buildings. He left today on the Prince Charles after being several weeks in the city.

Mr. Alder said it was a great pleasure to him to see the work that was going on. There were good streets and now the sidewalks were being renewed. The stumps were most covered by the second growth and the place looked to him almost like a new city. Everywhere he went he found little gardens. These were often in most unexpected places. He referred particularly to one he saw on the waterfront beyond the dry dock and another on the railway track south of the elevator.

Speaking of it today, Mr. Alder said he did a little gardening himself. In fact, he spent a good deal of time in his garden but in Victoria where it was so dry they could not grow things like they do here.

Minister of Mines Is Optimistic In a Review of Industry

Hon. W. A. McKenzie Points Out That Dormant Gold Mines Are Now Being Developed Once More

In issuing a summary and review of the mineral industry of B.C. for the six months ended June 30, 1931, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines, made the following comments "Mining in British Columbia has withstood the shock of world depression and extreme low metal prices, in a most satisfactory and remarkable manner. The figures show that for the period under review our mineral industry operated on an output basis of 84% of that recorded in the corresponding half-year period of 1930—when high record quantity production of metals and minerals was made. While some falling off has occurred in the development of base metal properties this has been compensated by the widespread revival in gold mining and the keen interest in prospecting for placer gold.

Off to the Hills

"Attention in particular is directed to the fact that potential gold properties that have been dormant for years are now being developed and the financing of other projects is being attempted. Prospecting has been well maintained. Unemployment and the lure of gold—again a

NO HURRY DEAL WITH RAIL RATES

WASHINGTON, July 23:—An effort is being made by the railways to speed up action by the inter-state commerce commission in connection with their request for an increase of 15% in freight rates throughout the country.

It is pointed out that the farmers are already raising grain at a loss and that if the freight rates are raised the loss will be greater. In view of this the commission refuses to grant the hearing earlier than in the ordinary course, which will probably be in August.

MASSETT IS VERY QUIET

Fishing Fleet Moves From North Island—One Cannery Operating

The fishing fleet at North Island is moving from there to around Massett Inlet where a better run is developing. Already, many boats have transferred the scene of their operations.

The Massett Cannery plant at Old Massett is the only cannery operating this season in Massett Inlet. John Dybhavn is personally in charge and a few hundred cohoes have been put up so far. Many of the former employees at New Massett of the Nootka Packing Co. are in the service this summer of that company on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. is, as usual, bringing in fish from the islands as is also the Canadian Fishing Co.

Logging in Massett Inlet is practically a dead issue at this time.

"Coal mining has declined in common with the depression in general industry, but corrective measures, strongly endorsed and assisted by the government, are having beneficial results and, it is hoped, will re-establish the industry and Continued on page 4.
