Colonel Nicholls Tells About His Visit to the East

In New York the picture houses are kept open all night so that the unemployed for ten cents may have a warm place to spend the night, according to Colonel Nicholls, who, at the Rotary lunch yesterday, told briefly of his visit east. The admission fee is ten cents and the people stay in their seats as long as they wish. The subways also are crowded with unemployed, the charge there being five cents.

Colonel Nicholls travelled a good deal in the east visiting various centres including Montreal, New York, Boston, Cleveland and Chicago. In Cleveland particularly he found prices very low. Milk was selling at five cents a quart, bread seven loaves for 25c, potatoes 35c a sack, and at one store they were specially advertising beef and mutton best cuts at five cents a pound. This last was an advertising stunt but it indicates the general trend.

The Colonel spoke optimistically of the local pulp mill prospects. The people he met who knew the financial men connected with the proposed industry were responsible people and he was assured that the industry would be established, if not immediately, at any rate in the near future.

The speaker said he found the people of Eastern Canada in better courage over the financial situation. In the United States the people seemed hopeless and he doubted if conditions there had reached the bottom. The people had lost confidence in themselves and in their leaders, political and financial.
