FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

GEORGE BUSHBY, PROMINENT LOCAL MAN, DIES IN SOUTH

Eino Komo and Jalmor Issanen are Convicted By Jury in Interior

Two Men, Tried at Prince George, Fought Over Girl in Bridge River District and Beat Another Man to Death on Road—Fifteen Years in Pen

PRINCE GEORGE, May 19.—Charged with the murder of B. G. Kilkenny near the Pioneer Mine in the Bridge River district on the night of January 31, Eino Komo and Jalmor Issanen were last night found guilty of manslaughter by the jury after two hours' deliberation and were sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary by Mr. Justice D. A. Macdonald.

Bristol G. Kilkenny, a young American, was hit over the head with a peavie and fatally injured during a fight on the way home from a dance at Pioneer Mine on January 31. He was sent to the hospital at Kamloops and there died as a result of his injuries. Issanen and Komo, two young Finns, who had been drinking heavily and had been seen to have trouble with Kilkenny, were arrested and charged with his murder.

Crown witnesses testified that, at the dance, an altercation took place between Issanen and Kilkenny because of one of the girls, also a Finn, who refused to dance with Issanen but danced instead with Kilkenny.

After the dance the accused, by then fairly well intoxicated, followed Kilkenny along the road and were knocked down by him. Later a fight ensued during which Kilkenny was struck repeatedly over the head with a heavy cant-hook. Several of the witnesses were fairly sure that Komo and Issanen were present but could not be positive on account of the darkness.

VITAMINS DISCUSSED

O. F. Densted of Fisheries Experimental Station Addresses Parent-Teachers

Halibut Liver Oil

Contains Much More Vitamin Than Cod Liver Oil, 'Tis Said

There was a large attendance at the Booth Memorial School last evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association when Orville F. Densted of the scientific staff of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station gave an interesting address on vitamins.

Mr. Densted spoke of the different deficiency diseases, their occurrence and the steps taken at various times to counteract these diseases, the gradual discovery of the foods that did prevent or cure them and, more recently, the discovery of substances now known as vitamins which these foods contain. Scurvy, the dread of sailors in former times, of the Crusaders, and of Jacques Cartier, is prevented by a diet that includes fresh vegetables, fresh fruits of their juices. Beri-beri, a disease of the nerves that may cause paralysis, affect the vocal chords or swell the joints, often resulting in death, is a deficiency disease. It was known as long ago as 2600 B.C. and, while formerly believed to be confined to the tropics, has been prevalent in northern countries such as Labrador and Norway. Beans, asparagus, tomatoes and yeast are preventatives.

Another deficiency disease is pellagra, at one time very prevalent in Italy and the Balkans. It can be cured by the use of lean meats, eggs and milk. A disease of the eyes, xerophthalmia, more often occurring in the interior of Japan, was prevalent in Denmark during the war and was traced to the lessened use of butter. Rickets, an all too common disease, among children chiefly, is due to the lack of proper bone-building material. It is very rare where the people are cattle raisers and, therefore, milk users. The use of cod liver oil is a preventative.

It was pointed out that the isolation of the particular content in these various foods as the combatative of the deficiency disease was a very recent development and, even now, there are considerable (Continued on Page 2)

Head of Rupert Marine Products Passed Away In Victoria Yesterday

Was Native Son of Province and Long Outstanding in Business Affairs of Various Coast Cities—Was 63 Years of Age—Ill For Some Time

Prince Rupert was shocked on receiving the news through the Canadian Press and the Daily News this morning of the death yesterday afternoon in hospital at Victoria, where he had been a patient for some time, of George Gordon Bushby, aged 63, well known and popular pioneer business man and industrialist of the coast and for the past 11 years head of the Rupert Marine Products reduction plant with headquarters at Prince Rupert. Several months ago, Mr. Bushby had a serious illness with pneumonia from which he failed to recover completely. Some weeks ago, accompanied by Mrs. Bushby, he went south with a view to receiving further medical treatment and completing his recuperation. While it had been known that he was forced to enter hospital again in Victoria and that his condition was not satisfactory, news of his death came as a great shock to his many friends and business associates here.

A native son of British Columbia and the son of the late Hon. Arthur T. Bushby, pioneer legislator and administrator, and Agnes Bushby, George Bushby was born at New Westminster on December 24, 1867. He was though his mother the grandson of the late Sir James Douglas, first Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia.

Educated in England
Educated at Christ's College Finchley, England, Mr. Bushby, after spending his early boyhood in the Old Country, returned to this continent and finished his engineering studies in San Francisco, being apprenticed for four years with the Union Ironworks at the California port. Later he joined W. F. Bullen and H. F. Bullen, his brothers-in-law, in marine engineering at Victoria. For some time he was in charge of Victoria harbor submarine work for the Dominion government. Later he was salvage manager for the British Columbia Salvage Co. for some years and eventually became president and managing director of the B. C. Marine Limited, in 1898 founding the firm's branch in Vancouver under the name of B. C. Marine Engineers.

During his long residence in Victoria and Vancouver, the late Mr. Bushby was prominently identified with other industries and businesses. He was president of the Compressed Gas Co. Ltd., president of the Vancouver Forge Co. Ltd., director of the British Columbia Salvage Co. Ltd., vice-president of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange, president of the B. C. Metals Trade Association, president of the Vancouver Employers' Association and vice-president of the British Columbia Manufacturers' Association in 1915, 1916 and 1917.

Came Here in 1921
Coming to Prince Rupert in 1921, Mr. Bushby took over the operation of the reduction plant in Tucks Inlet in which he had become financially interested and organized the Rupert Marine Products Limited. The industry has operated more or less steadily ever since Mr. Bushby took over its direction. His characteristic enterprise and progressiveness served him in good stead here, as it had done elsewhere, and, branching out in several new directions, he made the reduction plant an important local industry. For some years he also operated an important public towage service in connection with the reduction plant.

His geniality and popularity caused the Conservative party to choose Mr. Bushby as its candidate for Skeena in the 1925 federal general election. He put up a strong fight but lost out by a comparatively small margin in a three-cornered fight to Fred Stork, the sitting Liberal member. Despite his candidature in the Conservative interest at that time, Mr. Bushby was not known as a political partizan.

Was Yacht Club Head
During his residence in Prince Rupert, Mr. Bushby took an active interest in the affairs of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club of which he was president two or three years ago. He was also prominent in yachting while in Vancouver and Victoria. Organizations in the south with which he was identified (Continued on Page Two)
