Sores Broke Out

Mrs. T. E. Cliff, Kelwood, Man., writes:- "My little daughter's hands and arms broke out in sores which spread all over her body.

Nothing I tried gave her any relief until I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and I could see an improvement, as the sores began to disappear. I gave her three bottles and she has had no more trouble."

Walter Huston and David Manners, Both Canadians, Male Stars of "The Ruling Voice"

A new kind of an underworld is given an airing in the talking picture "The Ruling Voice," which is the current feature at the Capitol Theatre here. Flagrant violence of big-town hoodlumism pictured in previous films now gives way to suave and efficient business operations of grafters. There is no need of copious shootings, rough-neck gang leaders and buckets of blood to make the picture effective. Nor is it beer but rather milk from which these crooks derive their incomes by extortion. The versality of that fine Canadian actor, Walter Huston, is once more in evidence in the role of Jack Bannister, leader of the grafting syndicate. David Manners, another Canadian in the juvenile lead. has the part of a young swain and provides the love interest without detaching it from the story. Loretta Young is the winsome girl of the story while Doris Kenyon does excellent work as a rich woman.

There is surprising action in the picture and the love theme is interwoven deftly.
