Dr. Gault measures his results in somewhat unusual manner. Although many of his instruments are in use at the Illinois School for the Deaf at Jacksonville, Ill., from which he has been receiving encouraging reports, no "genuine" opportunity to test the apparatus appeared until he discovered Miss Helen May Martin, 38, who has been a blind, deaf mute since she was four.

Remarkable Feat

Miss Martin, who-oddly enoug -has been using her big toe as an ear, taught herself to play a few pieces on the piano by pressing that big toe against the middle pedal of the instrument. Her music was halting, crude, expressionless and a trifle wierd. Nevertheless, she eventually pieced together "A Perfect

With this outfit sounds of spoken language can be felt. Inasmuch as no two sounds feel alike, a deaf person's understanding develops as he differentiates between the intensity of the vibrations.

By patient application, Dr. Gault is slowly teaching Miss Martin the differences in sound. The woman has learned only 30 basic words, but her progress in music has been bet-

"By playing 'A Perfect Day' on the phonograph for her," he said, "we finally taught her that it was the piece she had been playing on the piano. Then, slowly, she noted for Vancouverthe differences between her rendition of the song and that of the orchestra. In the past few weeks she has been putting color into her music."

L. T. Wood of Queen Charlotte City was among last night's arrivals in the city from the Islands on the steamer Prince John.
