FORT ST. JOHN, May 31:-The Fraser Valley.

SEATTLE, May 31:—The big Fokker monoplane, in which Nathan C. Browne, young United States Army flyer from New York, had intended to make a non-stop fight from Seattle to Tokio for prize money aggregating $29,000, burst into flames yesterday when a hose from the refuelling plane touched it. The plane fell blazing into Elliott Bay from mid-air. Browne had -been attempting to fuel in the air for the Pacific flight. Both Browne and his refuelling aide, Frank Brooks, "bailed out," landing in the water, but were rescued. Browne suffered an injury to his arm.

Had the refuelling been successful Brooks was to have "bailed out," leaving Browne alone to proceed on the flight to Tokio.
