PARENTS INTERESTED

On Friday of last week a number of parents of pupils in For the utmost in attractiveness comfort and beauty of your street. the schools met under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' Association and asked to have the manual training and domestic science departments continued. It was pointed out that most of the leaders in the campign to cut down on the schools are men who have no children or whose children are not of school age.

All must realize that strict economy is necessary but what must be decided is where the cutting is to be done in order to do the least possible injury. Some people consider spelling more important than domestic science and yet much more harm is done in the world through lack of domestic education than from lack of ability to spell correctly. It is all a matter of relative values.

Character Is Indicated In Every City Garden

Good Taste in Garden Planning

Tucked away in the older residential sections of some of our towns, there are still to be seen charming old places of an age gone by. No doubt some of the old settlers could tell of the circuiar flower beds that once adorned the lawn, and of the iron deer that stood sentinel near the gate. These are the marks of an age gone by, for styles change in planting as in everything else.

The new style, as shown in the accompanying sketch, is to plan the lawn with open centre, with mass plantings relegated to the boundary lines. Just as we furnish every portion of the home, just so they plant every part of the grounds to secure the maximum Monday, April 11, 1932 in beauty and enjoyment.

Effect of Planting Trees

Prince Rupert is happy in having many ornamental trees native to the townsite which grow freely and are very effective when grown separately. Many people when clearing their lots save the best of the pines, hemlocks, spruces or cedars. Very often nature's planning is better than man's. Trees add much to the beauty of the grounds and to the value of the home.

amada's Leaders Agree

This Investment is a Necessity!

CTATESMEN, financiers, churchmen and educationists -known from coast-to-coast for their far-sighted leadership-unanimously commend Life Insurance for its principles of thrift and protection. Read the statements of these five outstanding Canadians:

RT. HON. R. B. BENNETT, Prime Minister of Canada: "Life Insurance in these modern days is a necessity, not a luxury. No man with a sense of his responsibilities to his family and organized society should be without Life Insurance."

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING, Leader of the Opposition: "In this age, it surely is not necessary to endorse the merits of Life Insurance, not only as a means of protection, but as providing a method of systematic saving as well."

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE, Principal and Vice-Chancellor, McGill University: "Of all the institutions that have to do with the welfare of men and women, there is none equal to Life Insurance."

HON. G. HOWARD FERGUSON, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain: "Any business which has as its primary impulse the preservation of the home, the education of children and the care of the aged, must have the admiration of us all. Life Insurance should commend itself to every man of common sense and judgment."

HON. L. A. TASCHEREAU, Premier, Province of Quebec: "Canadians have gradually come to realize that no better protection could be given their families than through Life Insurance.'

When Canada's leaders stress the necessity of Life Insurance, it is wisdom on your part to protect the policies you now own and increase your holdings when possible.

The above pictures illustrate an extreme case showing a back yard of a careless, slovenly person which later was cleaned up and renovated. The difference is very marked. While there are not many like the former picture in Prince Rupert, there are a good many that need attention.
