MORE TAXES OR LESS?

In the new school bill introduced into the Legislature by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, it is proposed to give the cities Tetal greater taxing powers for school purposes.

A great many people have been trying to limit the taxing powers of the cities instead of extending them. To give the right to tax is to encourage more taxing. No matter if the taxes are levied on land or in some other way, they have to be paid and usually it is the same people who pay the land taxes who have to pay most of the other taxes. den Street School and 15 at West

What we need today is fewer taxes and lower tax rates view school have been similarly ininstead of more city taxes, more provincial taxes and more oculated, making a total of 474 in Dominion taxes. While we know that the various govern- all, reports received by the school ments must pay their bills and balance their budgets, we also know that each individual is expected to do the same and when he gets higher taxes from three sources fired at him he feels like throwing up the sponge and not pay- a few cases, children had been kept ing anybody.

BUTTERBALLS IN POND

Local people have for the past three weeks been watching a pair of butterball ducks which seem to have adopted the pond in front of the Prince Rupert Club for their head- Mrs. Davidson quarters. They spend a lot of time there every day and come and go without any fear. While the pond was frozen over the birds could not use it but immediately it thawed they returned and are still there.

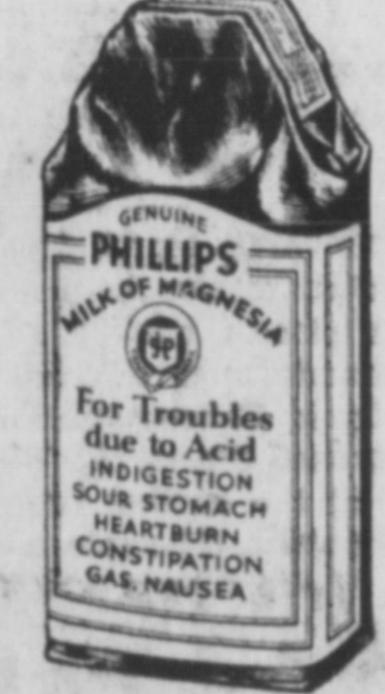

It has been suggested that if the birds are protected they may nest on the edge of the pond. Should they do so it would be a rather unique thing and the young would be quite an attraction to visitors later in the season. To have a bird sanctuary right in the centre of the city would be chers' Association in place of Mrs. City Treasurer William G. Fraser. a most unusual sight.

SUNKEN GARDENS

Some years ago the Daily News suggested that some the organization on the library smallpox here so far. steps might be taken to form a sunken garden around the committee while Mrs. R. J. It is already a natural park but the danger is that someone will wish to put Mrs. Harman a building there some day and deface it. A church is to be erected on its edge as soon as sufficient money has been collected. That will damage it very considerably. We think the church people would be serving the city better by helping to beautify the spot.

It has been suggested that the city should remit all taxes on the garden provided the railway company will beau- man has been elected secretary of tify it.

SOUR stomach

IF fear of what will follow overshadows the enjoyment of your meals, your system may be too acid. Those pangs of indigestion right after eating and that lump you feel in your stomach for hours after, the flatulence and sourness, are the ymptoms of over-acidity. Take an anti-acid and neutralize the excess.
