Mrs. Putnam Sets Plane Down Safely at 'Derry After Flight of Ocean

American Woman Aviator Had Planned Landing at Paris But Had Engine Troubie Much of Way and Decided to Alight at First Opportunity

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, May 21:-Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, who hopped off from Harbor Grace, Nfld., at 4:51 Eastern Standard Time yesterday afternoon on a projected non-stop flight to Paris, landed in a field five miles from here this afternoon unhurt and with her speedy Lockheed monoplane undamaged. She is the first woman ever to fly the Atlantic Ocean alone.

Mrs. Putnam experienced trouble with the exhaust manifold of her engine for ten hours of the flight DISPLAY and for a considerable distance flew through storms, mist, rain and a little fog. In addition, during a storm last night, the gasoline gauge was broken, causing some leakage, Annual Demonstration By Guides so she decided to come down at the first opportunity.

NORFOLK, Virginia, May 21-Citizens here have called on the ied by Venetia Feero. police department to lay further charges against John Hughes Curtis in connection with the Lindbergh case.

An effort is being made to connect the former shipbuilder with the smuggling of liquor which has taken place near the home of the fake intermediary.

Curtis made rather a sensational statement yesterday to the effect that he had been badgered by the police into making a confession much of which was not true.

There is no need for local completion and these grains are go- people to feel discouraged as to the ultimate success of the project, Mr. Buckley suggests.

Mr. Buckley states in the letter that he has just returned to Vancouver from the south where he has been negotiating with some influential people in the pulp and paper industry. Mr. Cole is in Vancouver again from the east and Mr. Buckley is now waiting on some people from Chicago and the east who are associated with the undertaking. Mr. Buckley enclosed with his letter some samples of the high grade of paper such as will be produced from the pulp it is planned to manufacture in the plant to be established here. "This style of mill costs more at the beginning but it turns out a higher grade of product," Mr. Buckley observes. The letter admits that, in view of the general depression, some delay is being encountered in connection with financing.
