CONTROL OF RADIO

The Financial Post in its recent issue argues against the government undertaking radio broadcasting as a state monopoly, claiming that most businesses taken over by the government have been failures. What the Post fails to note is that the government is the only authority that has the power to collect tolls from the audience. Under recent authority given them by Parliament they can collect two dollars each from owners of radio receivers. If collected, as it should be, this will provide a very considerable income and the tax on receivers might well be increased if the government gives something in return.

The All-Canadian Congress of Labor has made representations to the government in favor of a national system, advocating that the tax be increased to four dollars, of which three and a half dollars should be expended on broadcasting and the other half dollar on improvement of reception conditions.

DEFECTS OF PRIVATE CONTROL

The Congress in its memorandum to the government says:

"The worst defect of the existing broadcasting arrangement is its relegation of an important public utility to the position of an agency to promote the sale for profit of other services and merchandise. Such value as is received by the public from broadcasting is as secondary in the minds of those who pay for it as the coupon in a packet of cigarettes is to the tobacco manufacturer. So long as radio broadcasting is a mere advertising medium, the advertising is bound to occupy a predominant position in all programs. The hours when most listeners are tuned in will be at the disposal of the advertisers with the greatest resources, and each advertiser will seek to attract attention by using his period for entertainment rather than for instruction. During the evening hours, therefore, the listener has no choice except as between one kind of amusement and another. The educational possibilities of broadcasting are almost wholly neglected. The occasional serious program is broadcast in the unsalable hours, late at night or in the morning, when few can benefit."

"In Canada the disadvantage resulting from private enterprise in radio broadcasting is coupled with that of the inability of such private enterprise to provide effective competition with United States stations of greater range and more substantial endowment. Canadian stations, in short, cannot "keep up with the Joneses." The Royal Commission found this to be a matter of general complaint."

Trades & Labor Council Asks That Winn Be Retained as Head of Compensation Board

The Prince Rupert Trades & Labor Council, at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday night, went on record as being emphatically opposed to any move which might be made with a view to having E. S. H. Winn removed as chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board. In view of his experience and the success of his service, the council felt that his removal would mean a serious loss. The attorney general will be communicated with along these lines.

Municipal and school affairs were discussed at some length by the meeting but no decisions reached.

The meeting observed one minute's silence in honor of the memory of the late Jack Ratchford, who died during the past month. Tribute was paid to Mr. Ratchford in remarks made by a number of delegates.

The meeting was a lengthy one, lasting almost until midnight. Ald. S. D. Macdonald, the president, was in the chair and there was a good attendance of delegates.

RUPERT SHOULD BE PRETTIEST PLACE ON WHOLE COAST

Talking further about the possibilities Mr. Burbank said in effect: Spring flowers are the ones I like best because they bring a note of brightness and color after the rather long and trying winters. The crocus and daffodil grow well here and are effective. Tulips also do very well. Gladiolus can be planted in the same ground between the other bulbs and they make a good follow up for later blooming.

Mr. Burbank said he had planted tulips in the frozen ground at Winnipeg and secured wonderful results. There is no danger from freezing any of these early bulbs and they are appreciated even more than the later summer flowers. "For the amateur I always say, think about the spring."

Perennials, Mr. Burbank did not discuss at any length as he considered them a subject all to themselves. The main thing was to plant the tall plants at the back of the bed and the shorter ones near the front and to give room for filling in with annuals.

Discussing the annuals, Mr. Burbank said they should be so arranged that there should be a blaze of color all the time. Personally, he favored the scented flowers such as the stocks. They gave a variety of color, bloomed for a long time well into the fall, withstood rain and wind and gave off a wonderful perfume.

Flowering Shrubs

The flowering shrubs were also mentioned as being effective, such as lilacs. They were hardy and beautiful.

Quoting Luther Burbank, who, by the by, is a distant relative of M. A., the importance of soil was stressed. Any soil should be so porous that rain and air could penetrate. Rotten manure was very effective in bringing about this condition. New manure brought seeds which proved troublesome but once it had decomposed most of the seeds were destroyed.

"Visitors who come here should go away visualizing flowers," concluded Mr. Burbank. "The Lord put them on earth so that they could be enjoyed by rich and poor alike. My idea is to have so many that I have plenty to give away and still there are plenty in the garden to brighten and beautify the place."

Mr. Burbank puts his theories into practice at his own place. He is away often for weeks at a time just when he is needed in the garden but still he makes a good showing.

BOTH ARE DELEGATES

NEW YORK, April 16.—Both Former Governor A. E. Smith, 1928 candidate, and J. W. Davis, standard bearer for the party in 1924, were elected delegates yesterday to the Democratic convention this summer when a candidate for the 1932 campaign will be chosen. The convention here passed a resolution demanding repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

DEALINGS GOING ON

Lindbergh Kidnapping Case Gets Complicated—Believed Two Groups Have Dealt With Same Gang

NEW YORK, April 16.—It became apparent yesterday that the two separate groups of negotiators for the return of the kidnapped baby of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were dealing with the same gang.

At New York Dr. Condon has been acting as Col. Lindbergh's representative and paid over $50,000 in bills to the supposed abductors under a promise that the child would be returned which undertaking, however, was not lived up to.

At Norfolk Dean Peacock and associates have been acting as mediators for Col. Lindbergh.

Both groups claim to have been in touch with the kidnapers. Dean Peacock announced yesterday that he was advised that the child was still alive and well.

Col. Lindbergh was considering a plan yesterday whereby a committee would pass on further negotiations for the return of the child, this step being considered advisable to prevent any further fraud.

New negotiations were reported last night to be under way by Col. Henry C. Breckenridge, personal advisor of Col. Lindbergh. Col. Breckenridge spent the night alone at the home in New York of Dr. Condon, supposedly to meet representatives of the kidnapers with a view to having the child returned.

New York police were still endeavoring to trace one of the $20 bills from the Lindbergh ransom money which was deposited in a city bank on Thursday.

DETECTIVE HEAD DIES

William John Burns, President of International Agency, Passes in New York

NEW YORK, April 16.—William John Burns, head of the International Detective Agency and noted United States criminologist, passed away yesterday.

Born at Baltimore on October 19, 1861, the late Mr. Burns was educated at public and parochial schools there, after which he took a business course. He took up investigatory work and ultimately became president of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency. He had offices in New York and Chicago.

The late Mr. Burns, who was a Republican and a Catholic, is survived by a widow.

PIONEER OF WEST

Samuel McKay, Indian Fighter and Buffalo Hunter, Passes Away at Calgary

CALGARY, April 16.—Samuel McKay, noted buffalo hunter and Indian fighter, died at his home here yesterday at an advanced age. He was a schoolmate of Archbishop S. P. Matheson, former Primate of Canada for the Anglican Church, and knew Louis Riel and Sitting Bull personally. In his younger days he was in charge of a Hudson Bay post in Manitoba.

Bob Fraser and Jerry Potts of this city will sail on the Prince John tonight to pay a visit to Queen Charlotte City.

SPENDING TO SAVE .. THROUGH

Advertising

Not many of us, these days, are troubled with so much money that we cannot spend it. But we are interested in spending the money we have, to get the most out of it.

One way—and not a new way, either—is to make a budget. Put down, week by week, the money that comes in. Put down beside it, week by week, the money that goes out. So much for food, so much for clothing, so much for rent. So much for giving, and for luxuries.

Where Advertising Helps

It won't always be easy, of course, to stay within the budget. That's where advertising helps you. Advertisements in this newspaper tell you how much rugs, butter, breakfast foods, dishes, homes, automobiles will cost, before you go shopping! They point out ways to save money. They show you how to cut a little here, a little there. And each day, they tell about new inventions, new products, new ways of doing things, that help make this life of ours very much worth living!

Let the Daily News Classified Ads. work for you.
