VISITORS TO CONFERENCE

Premier Bennett is arranging that visitors to the Empire Economic Conference in Ottawa shall make a tour of the country, traversing it from east to west and return. In view of the particular interest taken by all visitors in the voyage by the inside passage and of the rather unique position of Prince Rupert, it cannot be said that anyone has really seen Canada unless they have made the trip from Vancouver to Prince Rupert or vice versa. Prince Rupert has already officially invited the visitors and it is very greatly to be desired that they visit the city and look over the port facilities.

INVESTIGATE LOAD LINE

When Vancouver wished a change in the application of the load line to that port, there was little difficulty in securing official action with a view to extending the scope of the convention. When just as reasonable a request was sent from Prince Rupert, no action was taken. That is what comes of being a small town backed by a sparsely settled country. When Prince Rupert attains the dignity of a large city she will be in a position to command attention.

PRINCE RUPERT MARKET

Residents of the interior are much interested in the progress of Prince Rupert because they recognize it as their natural market. If Prince Rupert people have money with which to buy, the farmers of the interior will have a place to sell. Given a freight rate sufficiently low to enable them to do business and given at the same time shippers who will prepare their product for market and who will guarantee its quality all the way through, both the Prince Rupert consumers and the interior producers will benefit.

There is still a good deal of education to be done before the farmers and fruit growers realize that they must give good value for the money they receive. We are told that fruit is often badly packed, that the large berries are placed at the top of the box and that culls are to be found beneath. We are told that potatoes are irregular in size and quality and that customers are often disappointed. We know that in the past the meat sent from the interior has often been of inferior quality and badly killed.

On the other hand complaint is made by the farmers that Prince Rupert merchants have not treated them well. They have felt that they were cheated.

And yet we know that conditions are much better today than ever they have been in the past. The farmers are learning and the local merchants have in many cases stretched a point or two to try to help the farmers. The only way to get rid of the feeling of distrust is for each to do his part well and to look to the future as well as to the present.

Last year at the meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia there was a good deal of talk about the Prince Rupert market and it is to be hoped that every possible encouragement will be given to its development.

BIRDS ARE NESTING

Birds have been passing north for some time now and a few of them drop off in Prince Rupert. Mostly, however, they make their nesting grounds farther north than this.

A few robins nest in Prince Rupert and at interior points. They seem to have taken to this since the formation of the northern settlements. These birds like to be around the settlements apparently because they find it easier to get food there. Some find greater protection in the gardens than farther afield for people generally protect the birds. They like to have the robins around.

Of the other birds that nest in and around Prince Rupert, there are a few song sparrows of the darker hue and white crown sparrows that make their maternal homes in the low bushes. Not many raise their young here, just a few.

Along the streams may be found an occasional dipper or water ousel and now and then a western winter wren's nest but that is about all of the smaller birds. As the country develops the number of birds will undoubtedly increase.

ELKS' DANCE ENJOYABLE

Acceptable Novelty Program Was Feature of Proceedings Last Night

There were about sixty couples present at a delightful novelty dance which was held by the Elks' Lodge in the Elks' Home last night. Dancing commenced at 9:30 p.m. and concluded at 2 a.m., the feature of the proceedings being the presentation of a splendid program of novelty turns which proved very acceptable to all. These novelties, all vying with each other for popularity with the crowd, included song numbers by the Harmony Boys (George Mitchell, Sam Joy, Joe Scott and Alex Mitchell); tap dancing by Miss Pebbles Stone; popular songs by Miss Helen Smith of Vancouver, and song and dance numbers by Sam Joy and Joe Scott. Excellent music for dancing was dispensed by Charlie Balagno and his orchestra. At midnight delicious refreshments were served.

William Stone was master of ceremonies and James Farquhar presided at the door. The committee in charge consisted of Mike Budnich, chairman, Alvin Johnson, William Stone, Alex Mitchell and David Milne.

The Elks are now making preparations for their annual balloon dance, the date of which has not as yet been set.

Man in the Moon

It is reported that the mayor of Seal Cove is preparing for a big influx of people as soon as the first sod is turned for the new sulphite mill.

The Seal Cove council is said to be considering the possibility of imposing a bachelor tax in order to prevent all the big jobs being taken by men without wives and families and thus cheat that section of its just rights.

The Seal Cove council also has under consideration the suggestion to advertise as a health resort, the patients to take the air instead of sulphur baths.

Sergeant: "ere, number five, take one pace forward and fasten the second button on your tunic. We don't want any of yer sun-bathing 'ere, m'lad."

The girl walked into the store and dropped her bag on the counter. "Give me a chicken," she said. "Do you wanna pullet?" the storekeeper asked. "No," the girl replied, "I wanna carry it."
