Miss Elizabeth Adrienne (Betty) Wright, formerly of Prince Rupert, and Henry Dalton (Don) McMaster of Ocean Falls were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wright, Ocean Falls, on Friday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m.

The bride, who was given in marriage by W. H. Wright, looked charming in a fine egg shell silk lace gown, with bitter chocolate jacquette and Egyptian sandals to match jacquette. She was attended by Miss Nan McKenzie, who looked lovely in shell pink crepe back satin. The groom was supported by J. Warrender of Ocean Falls.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Ace Club rooms where the guests were received by Mrs. George Guinley who wore a becoming gown of black lace, and Mrs. Mat McClymont, who looked attractive in a canary yellow satin gown. This Bottle Keeps Baby's Milk Right

PARIS, April 23.—French mothers usually scorn to feed their babies with bottles. But a Frenchman, M. Chavepayre, has invented a feeding bottle which will keep the milk at exactly the right temperature—even if the mother falls asleep after switching on the current. The bottle consists of a tube of pure flint which is introduced into the bottle. The electrical current which heats the milk may be left on for any length of time, but the temperature of the milk will never rise above 100 degrees Fahrenheit—or slightly above blood-heat.

Conditions Are Excellent For Settlement in Central B.C., is Statement of C. N. R. Official

No Better Mixed Farming Country in Canada Than Bulkley and Nechaco Valleys Says Harry Bowman, Who Talks of District and Its Needs

"There is plenty of room in the central interior of British Columbia. There are plenty of good lands which can be developed into wonderful farms and the climate is excellent." Those were the words of Harry Bowman, special representative of the Canadian National Railways for colonization and agriculture, who makes his headquarters at Prince George. He spent several days in the city this week returning yesterday afternoon.

There is no better country for mixed farming in Canada than the Bulkley and Nechaco valleys, according to Mr. Bowman. Winter feeding of stock gives the farmers control of market conditions in that they can send the cattle out at a time when they are needed. Already this is being tried and the results are excellent. Stabling conditions are easy, much easier than in a wet or damp climate. A car load of calves were winter fed by W. H. R. Lowe of Telkwa and these it is expected will be shipped to Prince Rupert soon. They are in splendid condition.

During the past season, Mr. Bowman said, they had shipped in 370 breeding heifers of good grade quality, all of which had been paid for in cash, the railways assisting in giving reduced freight rates. Some of these have been beef cattle and others dual purpose short-horns. The latter are found to be very useful in Central British Columbia.

In addition to the heifers, the Dominion Government has supplied 30 true bred bulls, which have been loaned to the people, and these will have a permanent effect on the class of stock raised in the district during the next few years.

During past years the farmers of the interior have found a market for their hay and grain at the various mills and logging camps but now they have to provide some way of using their feed and they are turning to cattle feeding to provide a means to that end. Mr. Bowman thinks the only way to farm successfully is for farmers to finish their stock and thus use their own hay and grain and at the same time improve their farms. The depression is giving an impetus to this class of farming.

Aim of Government

Mr. Bowman says the aim of the provincial government department of agriculture just now is to assist the farmers to produce the varieties and qualities that people demand. It is useless for farmers to raise either stock or other produce that is not marketable. They must cater to the market. He emphasized this very particularly as being of utmost importance. Fruit growers must produce the fruit that people will buy and so stock raisers must produce the stock that people will pay their best money for. Bacon hogs are in demand and, having this in view, bacon hogs must be bred if the breeders are to succeed.

Already this year five carloads of settlers have arrived in the interior and indications are that a great many more will follow. People are looking to Central British Columbia as a location for permanent settlement, particularly just now to the neighborhood of Prince George, Vanderhoof and the Lake country south of Burns Lake.

Family Narrowly Escape Capture in Chinese War Zone

MONTREAL, April 23.—In a letter to his cousin in this city, C. M. Wong, head of the Shanghai Motor Bus Company, tells of a narrow escape from capture, if not worse, experienced by himself and family during the fighting between Japanese and Chinese troops in Shanghai. For three days they dared not leave their home situated not far from the North Station in a district caught between the opposing forces. Their supply of food gave out and several houses nearby were razed. Finally in a desperate effort to escape Mr. Wong and his wife disguised themselves as porter and maid and guided their three little girls to safety.

Mr. Wong has now to start anew as the headquarters of the motor bus business were destroyed as well as most of the buses. They at least have a home for, although it was searched a short time after the family vacated it, everything was left intact. Mr. Wong is a former Montrealer and is well-known in the Chinese colony here.

POPE PIUS CONFESSES

Simple Jesuit Priest Hears Innermost Thoughts of Pontiff Every Friday

VATICAN CITY, April 23.—Pope Pius tells his innermost thoughts every Friday evening to a simple Jesuit priest, Father Celebrano, his private confessor. Whatever faults of thought, word, deed or omission he may have committed he confesses humbly. He makes the acts of contrition whereby he expresses sorrow for his offenses. He recites the firm purpose of amendment, whereby he promises to strive not to commit the same sins again.

Then the absolute monarch of the Catholic Church receives absolution from a member of the rank and file of the hierarchy.

Although the Pope's own commands are supreme to the prelates and priests under him, he is obliged to fulfill the penance imposed on him by his confessor. This usually consists of a number of prayers to be said.

Each Friday night the Pontiff sends one of his automobiles to the Del Gesu Church for Father Celebrano. The automobile brings the confessor to the Vatican. He walks up two flights of stairs to the Pope's private apartments. After an introductory greeting he sits on one side of a table, the Pope on the other. The Pontiff makes the sign of the cross, leans his head in his hands and the confession begins.

As private confessor Father Celebrano is considered, by tradition, a member of the Pope's family. During important ceremonies he sits in one of the seats reserved for the Pope's relatives.
