SENATOR ROBERTSON

Senator Robertson has signed off. He has clicked his last key, sent his last message, and is now possibly teaching telegraphy to the angels. Or possibly he is organizing the inhabitants of Olympus or speaking to them on the dignity of labor.

Senator Robertson was a telegrapher, became head of the telegraphers' union and graduated as a labor leader. At the age of forty-three he was appointed to the Senate of Canada and soon joined the Borden Union Government. At that time his duty was to see that production was not checked. He settled strikes and kept everyone working in order that the Allied forces overseas might have every possible support in the matter of supplies.

Just as the war ended Senator Robertson became minister of labor and continued the same position in the Meighen government until the election of 1921 when he retired to await the return of the Conservative party when he resumed his position in 1930 and continued until his health gave way two years ago. The most difficult time the Senator experienced was in connection with the Winnipeg strike in 1919 and opinion is much divided as to the wisdom or otherwise of his action there. At any rate he survived that ordeal without injury to his reputation so far as the party he served was concerned.

While Senator Robertson will not be remembered as an ond game called, darkness). outstanding statesman, he will be numbered among the useful Empire builders whose number is legion and who did faithfully their duty as they saw it.

NEW LIBERALISM

In these unquiet yet rapidly advancing days there is too baseball Standings much of a disposition on the part of Liberals to cling to the old Laurier policy, which in its day was good but which today the country is rapidly outgrowing. Political parties New York must advance with the times or they go into the discard. Chicago They must adapt themselves to changing conditions and Pittsburg changing public sentiment. The policy of Laurier was a st. Louis policy for the beginning of the century. Today we are Philadelphia nearing the middle of the century and a century is a very Brooklyn long period. Captain Ian Mackenzie of Vancouver has been emphasizing the need of a change of attitude and has maed a strong appeal to the east. There must be a new Liberalism and members of that party must get into line with the spirit of the age.

Thrilling Softball Seen in First Of City League Play-offs

The Elks' softball team last night drew first blood in the city championship play-offs by defeating the Canadian National Recreation Association by a score of 6-5 in the most thrilling game that has been played so far this season.

The C. N. R. A. won the toss and took the field and the Elks started the scoring by making one run in the first half of the first inning but the C. N. R. A. took the lead in the second half of the inning by scoring two runs. The score stood up to the seventh inning, both teams playing errorless ball, and the seventh inning proved to be a repetition of the first inning. the C. N. R. A. scoring two men and the Elks one, making the score 4-2. The eighth inning proved to be the C. N.'s downfall when the Elks broke through for four runs and, despite all efforts. the C. N. R. A. only managed to final score 6-5.

Batteries for the Elks were Stone and Budinich and for the C. N. R. A. Pitcher and Geddes.

The second game of the series will be played Tuesday night.
