UNION GOVERNMENT

With all this talk about union governments, it seems likely that some arrangement will be made to divide the province on other than the old party lines. Many Conservatives will back T. D. Pattullo no matter what the official Conservatives do about it. That is why there is such a scramble to get in the band wagon with the present opposition leader.

There are hundreds of Conservatives who will back Pattullo, if only to defeat W. J. Bowser. They say that Bowser has double-crossed Premier Tolmie and knifed the present administration on every possible occasion. They look on him as a traitor to the party and will vote for any group that seems likely to keep him out of office. He never was popular because of his hard cynicism. As attorney-general they tolerated him and admired his talents for machine government but when he became premier he was defeated so badly that it was years before he could again raise his head politically. It was the votes of independent Conservatives that defeated him.

TERRIBLE CLEAVAGE

It is a terrible cleavage that has split the Conservative party. So bad is it that even the provincial executive has decided it is useless to fight with any hope of victory. Rather than face sure defeat, which would also affect their Dominion standing, they have declared strongly in favor of union. What they would like would be union with a government led by a Conservative but they cannot get that. If they want to unite with Liberals it will have to be an administration with a Liberal premier.

Within the next few days or at the least within a few weeks we shall doubtless know exactly what the line-up is likely to be.

FIRST PLACE AGAIN

After having dropped to third place in export trade Britain has regained her position and now heads the list of nations of the world. The British Chancellor, in telling this to his constituents in Birmingham, said that over two hundred factories had been established in the country with foreign capital and twenty countries wish to negotiate treaties. It's a happy story of a nation recovering from a deadening depression.

Better Wheat Prices

The recent smart upturn in wheat prices brought encouragement in substantial form and increased his potential purchasing power to the extent of $5,000,000. On March 1, more than 50,000,000 bushels of wheat was held in store on farms throughout the west by farmers who refused to sell at the market low. A large quantity of this surplus was marketed during a few days at prices 10 to 15 cents a bushel above the low levels of mid-December. Deliveries from country elevators increased from 300,000 to 800,000 bushels daily.

Sub-soil moisture, depleted throughout the west in the past four years for lack of general rains between harvest and freeze-up, is said by grain men to favor the farmer this year. A recent survey in Saskatchewan, half-raked last autumn by soil-blowing winds and blistering heat, showed the average soil moisture 93% of normal. In Alberta it was 87% and in Manitoba 95%. Given a fair crop, with wheat prices already in the ascendancy, the west hopes to break the shackles forged on it by three lean years. Already benefits of the Ottawa Imperial conference agreements are being felt in the agricultural west. The circle of those who seek diversification in farming is rapidly widening. Due to the disappearance of an available surplus and a stronger export demand, pork and other meat prices have shown a sharp increase during the past few weeks. It is estimated farm purchasing power in the region tributary to Winnipeg alone has increased $24,000 weekly. Definite signs of improvement are shown in the cattle situation.

Turn to Mixed Farming

Large herds of sheep and cattle have been contracted for by wheat farmers in the three prairie provinces which have turned to diversified farming for the road back to normal times. This is only one item in the story of successful efforts of a livestock scheme initiated by provincial governments and farm organizations.

Specialists, representatives of provincial governments, are working as "liaison officers" directing the farmer toward raising of quality products. Acres of prairie land where once grew the world's finest wheat will be set aside for the raising of barley and beef, honey and hogs during the coming year.

While wheat-producing nations of the world busy themselves with plans for a discussion of acreage reduction the prairie farmer is solving the problem for himself. He is busying himself and improving his land and he is doing it in admirable fashion. He is convinced a new scheme of farm operation must be adopted if he is to survive. Meanwhile wheat prices slowly but surely continue to climb back toward higher levels.

WHIFFLETS

From the Waterfront

Union steamer Venture, which struck a rock off Village Island in the Skeena River recently and sustained considerable damage, making necessary replacement of eleven plates, is now being overhauled at North Vancouver prior to resuming service on the logging camp run out of Vancouver before which, however, she may make one more voyage on the Skeena River route. The steamer Cardena is expected to make two more voyages on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Anyox-Stewart route before reverting for the summer to her regular run on the Vancouver-Ocean Falls-Skeena River-Prince Rupert route. The steamer Catala, which is now relieving on the cannery route, will then go back on her regular run in place of the Cardena.

Capt. W. P. Armour left port at 2 o'clock this morning with the C. N. for the west coast of Dundas Island where he will superintend renewed efforts to save the well known local halibutter Livingstone II which stranded and sank there recently. The change of wind conditions from the west to southeast is hoped to aid in the raising of the sunken vessel.

Man in the Moon

Now there is so much talk about union, why not have a union of those who want something for nothing. I'm strong for it.

The people who are strong for union of political forces are the ones who object to union of labor forces.

The Conservatives sent Hon. S. L. Howe to ask Pattullo to join with them in a union administration. They might as well have sent Adolph Hitler.

Talking of unions, it is reported that the Women's Golf Union of Australia objects to ladies playing the game attired in silk shorts. There's union government for you.

Japan belonged to the union of nations but it did not prevent her grafting on the side in Manchuria.

Jake says the world is ruled by words. In Italy they have the Fascists, in Germany the Nazis and here they will not be satisfied unless they have union.

A small boy went into a grocery store for a box of matches. Presently he returned, saying:

"Please, mother says these matches won't light."

"Won't light," cried the grocer. "Why look here!" and he struck one of the rear of his trousers.

The boy took the matches away, but presently returned with them once more.

"Please, sir, mother says she has not time to come, and scratch all her matches on you."

NEW HAZELTON BURNS LAKE

R. W. Wilson of Vancouver, who is interested in two or three mining properties on Hudson Bay Mountain and on Dome Mountain, has returned to the district after a business trip in the south. He will be in charge of operations in the interior during the year and hopes to have quite a number of men working.

It is reported that a small hall suitable for card parties and small dances is being fitted up in Hazelton.

The new hotel being built by Gus Christianson in New Hazelton is being mentioned in the Vancouver radio broadcast as a desirable place for tourists to stop at next summer.

Nels Edin has returned to Endako after receiving treatment in the Hazelton Hospital.

Great quantities of snow have disappeared in the mild weather of late. No sooner was the snow gone off spots in the garden than rhubarb and tulips were seen forcing themselves through the ground.

SMITHERS

H. G. Windt has been appointed district deputy grand president by the National Council of the Native Sons of Canada.

Members of the Evelyn badminton club will invade the local courts this week in a series of games with the local players. Some sixteen players are expected to come.

With lightning-like rapidity that is not often met with in court, Judge Robertson dismissed a charge of theft laid against Dora Huber by her foster-father F. Huber. The case arose out of disposal of grain from the Huber farm. Several witnesses were called by the opposing forces, they were dealt with in a hurry and, at the conclusion, His Honor threw the case out of court.

J. H. Johnson, brother of Harry Johnson of Smithers, was one of the heavy losers in the recent earthquake at Long Beach, Cal. A handsome residence, built by Mr. Johnson at a cost of $20,000, was almost completely shaken down. None of the family, however, were injured.

Darrell Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wall of Smithers, miraculously escaped losing an arm a few days ago. While at work cutting wood with a power saw at Seymour Lake, Darrell slipped in such a way that his forearm came in contact with the saw and he received a nasty gash that required several stitches to close.

SPORT CHAT

The basketball play-offs opening tonight will consist of a series of two games, total points counting for the league championship. The ladies' game will start the card off with the intermediate and the senior following in order.

The Olympic Games of 1936 are to be held in Berlin, and already the municipal authorities of the German capital are extremely busy with preliminary arrangements.

In one way at least, the German Olympic Committee is starting work with a real asset. It is the Olympic Stadium, built in the forest of Grunewald, a suburb of Berlin, for the games of 1916, which were not held because of the World War. This stadium which at present has a seating capacity of 40,000, is to be reconstructed and enlarged so as to provide room for somewhere between 75,000 and 100,000 spectators.

He is six feet two inches tall, weighs 195 pounds, came from a farm in North Carolina, is twenty-four years old, is one of seven brothers, two of whom are in professional baseball, and thinks one of the brothers is a better player than himself, and that the other is better than both. Was given a major-league contract in 1927, shipped to Terre Haute and finally entered the big leagues in 1929. Although brought up on a tobacco farm in a corn-blower belt he has never used either and does not intend to use them, is a stickler for strict training and regularly sends part of his salary to the home folks. A silent, firm-jawed, clean-living, athletic young man—Wesley Ferrell, big-league pitching ace.

With the approach of spring, various sport champions of 1932 are looking intently in the direction of the coming competitive season. Some view it with a justified anticipation of triumph to come. Others view it with an equally justified conviction that by fall some contenders will have knocked their hard-won crowns off their sweating brows. And still others view the summer season of activity with mixed feelings—with hope of success and fear of failure.

Eddie Tolan, double winner of the Olympic sprints, is through with amateur competition. So is "Babe" Didrikson, who won two of the three events that the Olympic rules allowed her to enter. Bill Carr, winner of the 400 meters, probably will take a rest from club. The Canadian Airways Company's Fokker plane from Carcross given "Blazin' Ben" Eastman, the will be here in a few days and Mr. Wells will then take charge of that and resume his duties as pilot.
