THE NEW COMMISSIONER

W. J. Alder has taken charge of all civic affairs as commissioner appointed by the provincial government. He has asked for the co-operation of all Prince Rupert people.

The commissioner has an opportunity to do a great deal for the city and we bespeak for him every possible consideration and help in the work to which he has set his hand. So far as this paper is concerned, we shall do all in our power to forward the interests of the city and we believe we can do that best by co-operating with the commissioner.

We have faith in Prince Rupert and its future and so has Mr. Alder. If we all work together and make a determined effort we shall soon have a prosperous community here, the centre of a huge prosperous district.

T. DUFF PATTULLO

In Sunday's issue of the Vancouver Province George Murray writes a snappy article about Prince Rupert's member in the Legislature, T. Duff Pattullo. In it he mentions the early days when money was scarce. The Pattullo family went to Port Dover for the summer and T. D.'s father sent him the train fare to come to visit them for the week-end. Instead of taking the train he walked the whole distance, forty miles each way, and used the money to buy things for himself.

Toward the end of the article Mr. Murray discusses the present situation and says:

"He has reorganized his party, has consolidated his position as leader, and is now all set for the provincial election.

"In a one-man fight against the Conservatives led by Dr. Tolmie, Duff might not do so well. But with a thoroughly divided Tory camp Pattullo's chances are much better.

"One thing is certain that if Duff Pattullo ever gets the reins of office at Victoria, there will be action. There was always something doing in his department when he was minister of lands.

"The Vancouver Province recently gave Duff a sound trouncing on the grounds that he is a rabid partisan. In reply Duff accused the Province of undermining public confidence by 'belittling the work of our great public servants.'"

Troubles Multiply For Administration in Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 16.—Bonus army troubles have multiplied for the administration as marchers, the vanguard of which began to arrive a few days ago, have now reached thousands in numbers, coming from many different parts of the country. While others have been sitting into the city, differences have beset the marchers already here. On the whole, however, the annual convention of the bonus army, still in progress here, is an orderly gathering in contrast to the tumultuous demonstration of last year.

The marchers have come by foot and on busses, trucks and trains. The Veterans' Bureau has been endeavoring to provide all with food and lodgings during their stay.

Senators Defeat Tigers by Score of 5 to 4

In yesterday's fixture of the High School softball league the Senators overcome the Tigers in a hard-fought game 5 to 4.

From the outset both teams were playing tight ball. The Tigers drew first blood in the second inning when one run crossed the plate in the third. The Senators drove in the equalizer.

An error in the outfield was responsible for the three runs gained by the Tigers in the fourth. The Senators, by a run of hitting equalized the score in the fifth. It was not until the seventh inning, however when the combined efforts of Small and McCaffery broke the tie. The Tigers were quickly retired in the last half of the seventh.

For the Senators Allan, Obata and Bussnach were strong in the infield while Campbell was a consistent hitter. Tobey and Santurbane served well for the Tigers.
