General Sandino's Revolution Over

President Juan Cautista Sacasa of Nicaragua (left) and General Augusto Ceasar Sandino, embrace each other after signing a peace pact in Managua, ending hostilities which have endured several years. It was largely to quell Sandino's activities that the United States sent marines into that country.

PITT TELLS OF MINING

General Manager of the Premier Company Gives Interesting Address in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21—"If we go about the promotion of mines in a sensible way and not with a mad scramble and rush, we will build up a splendid era of prosperity in British Columbia."

This was one of the highlights of a "straight from the shoulder" address made by Dale L. Pitt, manager of the Premier Mines, Ltd., to the Vancouver Board of Trade at a luncheon meeting in the Hotel Vancouver, Wednesday.

"Do you realize," asked Mr. Pitt, "that one small mine operating in British Columbia spends as much as $50,000 a month? That shows the value of mining to this province and especially to Vancouver."

Referring to the number of industries which benefit from mining, he told of the machinery used, the supplies purchased, and the value to a great number of allied industries.

He said, "Most of the freight hauled on railway lines in this country is the product of mines. The timber industry obtains great benefit from the amount of lumber used, even the smallest storekeeper supplies his quota of food, picks and shovels and other necessities.

"In the past 13 years, out of one small hole at the Premier Mine, we have produced $42,000,000 worth of gold," he said. "That is what one small mine does in this province.

"Last year we produced 70,000 ounces of gold—nearly a ton— and so great has been the advancement of science in mining that we put one ton of rock through the mill to obtain three-tenths of an ounce of gold."

Condemning speculation as being detrimental to mining in most cases, he said: "High-powered stock salesmen paint a glowing picture up to which it is impossible for any mine to live. As a result worthy properties are many times overlooked by possible investors. A boom of that nature is one which does great harm to the mining industry."

The speaker concluded his address with a glance into the future of mining, as it may be affected through advance of science. He said that at the present time a whole mountain can, and is, being dug away at the rate of 80,000 tons of ore a day. Although there may be less than $1 worth of copper to the ton, certain mines are proving that this makes a paying proposition.

"We feel that with science and our skill, we can go to Mother Earth and unlock the vast treasure chests which have defied us in the past," he concluded.

BUNKHOUSE COLLAPSED

Snow Very Deep at Point South of Prince Rupert Where Ten Feet Reported

John D. Phal of Lowe Inlet arrived in the city yesterday on his gasboat Sherman and is leaving today for Massett to fetch the gas boat Carolina and take her to Lowe Inlet.

Mr. Phal says the snow is ten feet deep between the houses at the inlet. The cannery bunkhouse and one of the shacks has collapsed under the weight of the snow.

AUNT FLO TO THE RESCUE . . by ALBERT DORNE

Make sure about "B.O."

DON'T just trust to luck that you won't offend. Man or woman, no one is safe! Pores are constantly giving off odour-causing waste—a quart daily. In crowded places—close, overheated rooms—others are quick to notice even a trace of "B.O." about us.

Take no chances. Use Lifebuoy and be sure. Its creamy, searching lather cleanses so deeply, purifies so thoroughly, that every trace of "B.O." vanishes. Helps protect health by removing germs from hands. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent vanishes as you rinse.

A complexion secret

Every night, massage Lifebuoy's pure, bland lather well into the skin; then rinse. Pores are gently freed of beauty-robbing impurities—dull complexions toned and freshened to clear, healthy radiance. Adopt Lifebuoy today.
