THE COSY CORNER

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

SMART DRESS OF PLAID

The pretty model illustrated in the sketch is of blue, red and white plaid, with a coat of blue woollen crepe trimmed with bias plaid and lined with white. The sleeves are new and attractive, and the neck is finished with a lace collar.

MACARONI CHEESE

A Delicious Supper Savory Easily Made

Break up a quarter of a pound of macaroni into short pieces, put them in a saucepan containing enough boiling water, slightly salted, to well cover the macaroni, and boil fast for forty minutes. Drain and cool. Boil one gill of stock with one gill of milk, one bay leaf, and one slice of onion. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add one tablespoonful of flour, and cook them for a few minutes, stir without browning. Now add the boiled milk and stock strained, stir till it boils, put in the macaroni, and add two tablespoonfuls of grated Canadian cheese; mix well and season with salt, pepper, and dust of paprika.

Fill a well-buttered gratin dish or pudding dish with the preparation, sprinkle over with bread crumbs and grated cheese, put a few small pieces of butter here and there on the top, and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes. Serve hot in the dish it was cooked in.

SIMPLE SEASON STYLES

Best Fashions This Summer are in Strictest Good Taste

If there is one thing more than another that strikes one when looking at this season's fashions in dresses, suits and hats, it is the extreme simplicity of the lines and the absence of much trimming and "fussy" effects. The skirts hang slim and straight, almost always devoid of even relieving folds of material, and are short. The walking skirts are very short, while the longest ones merely touch the floor. Jackets show the same tendency; and by the time spring is well advanced the short boleros and Etons will probably be greatly in favor. Most of the jackets are in square box effects, not unlike boy's coats, while the sleeves are simply the perfectly plain close-fitting coat sleeve. One of the new features is the broad collar. Coat revers are wide, and the sailor collar is being used on every garment possible. It has a place even on the kimonos and lingerie dresses, as well as on all the wraps. Skirts with the raised waist-line are in favor again, and are generally becoming. Each of the spring garments seems to be striving to add to the narrow effect—everything is narrow, sleeves, shoulders, hips, backs and dresses. Some of the skirts are only two yards wide at the hem.

THREW RING IN GROOM'S FACE

Forced to Marry Russian Count by Czar's Order Lovely Actress Displays Character.

The once famous American actress, Genevieve Ward, is growing old now in her little home in Regent's Park. Miss Ward for years carefully guarded the story of her own marriage to a Russian count. Many years ago the dashing Count Guerbet, connected with the imperial Romanoffs, wooed and won Miss Ward at Nice. She was 16 years old then, and the count allowed her to make her own wedding arrangements, and the couple were married at the American consulate.

The Russian ambassador notified Miss Ward's mother that the marriage was not legal in Russia. It developed that the count learned at the last moment that Miss Ward was not an heiress. She left her husband, and he followed her to Paris, forced his way to her apartments and tried to poison her. Next he went to Naples, and his engagement to the daughter of the Russian ambassador in Italy was announced. Miss Ward and her mother went to Czar III., who issued an order that the count must wed Miss Ward in the Russian church, or forfeit his estates and go to Siberia.

The count consented to a ceremony at Warsaw. A brother of Miss Ward's was on hand with a loaded pistol. Following the ceremony the bride threw the ring into her husband's face and left him. She never saw him again, and never used her title. He implored her a dozen times to live with him, and when he died he left her his estate, but she refused it.

ITEMS OF SPORT

Roy Corhan, White Sox shortstop, is a sensation. It is predicted he will divide honors with Ping Bodie, who now occupies the hearts of the southside fans, to the exclusion of all others.

We didn't believe Charley Comiskey when he said something about grabbing the pennant, a month ago, but the way those Sox are traveling is suggestive of second sight on Commy's part.

One reason the games are longer this spring is that managers are making their men "wait out everything," instead of hitting at the first pitched ball. In other words they are playing the game and not playing horse.

Strange how the stars are dimmed. Here's Nap Lajoie out for a long period, by order of his physician, Lena Blackburne with a surgeon digging into his knee. Joe Jackson with a busted finger, Titus with an ankle in plaster, Wiltsie with his finger broken. "Gee!" It's a wonderful game.

Captain F. S. Cody, during the course of an exhibition flight in a huge aeroplane in the presence of King George, created apprehension amongst the spectators by a perilous manoeuvre. He swooped down at a terrific speed close to the ground and passed within 25 feet of the king.

Frank Lukeman, the O.A.A.C. sprinter, who was one of Canada's representatives in the Festival of Empire sports at Crystal Palace, London, this month, has definitely decided to remain to compete for the British 100 and 220 yard championships, which will be decided at Stamford Bridge on July 1. Lukeman has received leave of absence from the interior department, and may also run in Scotland. He is in great shape.

With his cauliflower ears in full bloom, "in honor of the rose festival," he said, Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion of the world, has arrived in Portland to make arrangements for a fight with Bud Anderson at Vancouver on the Fourth of July. The Battler expects to go to San Francisco after the carnival, but says he will return to Portland soon to get into shape, providing the fight with Anderson is arranged. Nelson said he would start his training on second-raters, in order to see whether he could retain his old-time form.

President Thomas J. Lynch of the National league, threw out the Chicago-Pittsburg game which Chicago had protested, and ordered the game played over. "This game," says President Lynch, in his decision allowing Chicago's protest, "was won by the Pittsburg club by 1 to 0 and protested by the Chicago club on the grounds that the field umpire called the wrong player out, and that, second, as a result of said decision a second runner was wrongly declared out by the umpire in chief."

"This city will be the centre of lacrosse from the Rockies to the Great Lakes," remarked Tommy Burns at Calgary, as he stood watching the Central and Saint Mary teams play a City league game. It was fast lacrosse, and the great boxer was visibly impressed with the work of the young men, especially as he has taken upon himself the work of re-organizing the provincial end of the game, and material for his team is to be found in the City league ranks. "Next fall we ought to have the finest players in the world right here in Calgary," he said.

Jim Flynn has turned down an offer to go to London and fight Sam McVey. Flynn will take on Carl Morris at Tulsa, Okla., on July 4th.
