Won Huge Prize,

illusioned After His Fortunate

Kilpatrick, a dental mechanic who resided in Capt Town, South Africa, for many years but was a former resident of Leeds, England, won the rich Calcutta sweepstake in 1927 but became unhappy and soured of life and died at the age of 37. The big fortune he gained at one stroke did not bring paradise to him as he had optimistically hoped for, and it is regarded as porbable that the only real joy he got out of it was that it enabled him to settle a substantial sum on his mother and sister. He was a native of Milnthorpe, Westmor-

Kilpatrick had friends amongst the best professional and business comparatively humble occupation, and as it was known that the horse he had drawn had won these friends formed him into a short-period limited liability company, which received his winnings, Thus he could not draw any money without his co-directors' consent. In this way he was protected against victimisation for a time during the period that the & Mobley. "sharks" of the whole world were sure to be on his track.

He established and endowed made other benefactions. The net sum he secured for himself was about $300,000. He married a Johannesburg girl whom he met on board ship on his second holiday to England. That marriage was not a success and was dissolved. Last summer he again visited Engand, this time with his second wife, but he was not the "Killy" Il nis friends had known a few years before. As a dental mechanic earnling about $2,000 a year he had enjoyed life greatly in his own way: as a man of wealth he was disillusioned and considerably soured.

He slipped when getting into a motor car last October, and this led to his last illness. But for his so-called "good fortune" Billy Kilpatrick might have lived happliy to a ripe old age.

Only one boat was in port with her catch this morning, the Tillikum with 5,000 pounds of halibut. There was no sale.

> It is just 25 years ago today that George W. Johnstone landed from the steamer Camosun at Prince Rupert and he has resided here since that time. For the past 16 years he has been with the firm of Stewart

There is a vast difference between Prince Rupert today and at that time. In those days there was pracsoup kitchen in Capetown and tically nothing here. Since that time the place has gradually developed until it has become a modern city with most of the modern improvements that go with a city.

could not see any possible means of

Ald. Black strengthened this statement by showing that those people taxed for the sewer and the sewer maintenance were entitled to this service when they could not have the facilities of the sewer and that it was an imposition to think that they could be taxed for such a

Ald. Casey put forward an amendment to the motion that the matter laid over until it was further gone into by the public works department and show just how much the people had paid in taxes for the maintenance of the sewer.

The amendment was defeated by a vote of 4-3, Ald. Casey, Black and Rudderham being the dissenting voices. The motion was then put to vote and carried with Ald. Casey, Black and Rudderham opposed.
