World Economic Parley Swings Into Stride Today When Trade Proposal Is Offered By France

BACK FROM OVERSEAS

"I do believe that business conditions are somewhat improved in the Old Country," declared T. H. Johnson, general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., who returned to the city this morning on the Princess Louise, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, following a trip to England. "A somewhat better tone in conditions generally is evident. Like in this country, however, there is keen competition in all lines of business."

Of course, a good deal of good is being hoped for as a result of the world economic conference now in progress in London, states Mr. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have been away for three and a half months. They spent most of the time in the British Isles as well as visiting in Germany and France. Mr. Johnson made a flight from Paris to London in a commercial airplane having capacity for forty-two passengers.

The well known local industrial leader and President of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce was away from England before the unfortunate take-off of his niece, Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison, with her husband, Capt. James Mollison, on their projected flight from Croydon to New York and thence to Bagdad and London. "However, I saw Amy and Jim while I was over," he said.

J. H. Parks, engineer for the Board of Railway Commissioners from Calgary, who has been in the city over the week-end in the course of a trip to the coast on official duties, leaves by tonight's train for Edmonton enroute to Calgary.

Would Increase Production of Wheat, Wine, Cotton, Wool, Coal and Copper—Further Word From Washington Regarding Currency Stabilization is Being Awaited

LONDON, June 19: (Canadian Press)—With the outlook for ultimate success of the gathering a good deal more hopeful than it was when the parley opened last week, the world economic conference started its second week of deliberations today and swung into stride with a concrete proposal from France of intergovernmental agreements to link production with consumption of wheat, wine, cotton, wool, coal and copper.

Pending further word from Washington official negotiations for controlled stabilization of major currencies were understood to have come to a complete standstill. However, definite progress was made in

RELIEF PROBLEM NOT SO SERIOUS IN ATLIN

Unemployment relief is not proving as great a problem in Atlin district as in some other parts of the province, it is indicated by John A. Anderson, road superintendent for that district, who was a week-end visitor to the city, arriving Saturday evening on the Prince Rupert from Stewart and sailing last night on the Catala for his headquarters at Anxox. "There is not a person on relief north of Stewart," declared Mr. Anderson, this boast applying for such fortunate points as Premier, Atlin and Telegraph Creek. Of course, there are men on relief at Stewart and Alice Arm.

Everything in Readiness For Opening of Sockeye Fishing And Salmon Canning Tonight

"There is not a hitch anywhere and everything is ready to start with the opening gun tonight," stated R. G. Johnston, veteran manager of Inverness cannery on the Skeena River, this morning in regard to the opening of the season for fishing with sockeye gill nets this evening. The fishermen seem to be well satisfied and are particularly well pleased with the price, said Mr. Johnston. The canneries are all ready to start packing once the fish start to move in.

Mr. Johnson came into town on business bright and early this morning on the cannery tender Florence. "You are not in Spoke-shute," he jocularly commented as a well known Japanese fisherman from the Skeena River came along and tried to get into a local hardware store to spend a little money in purchases before 8 a.m. "They don't get up that early here." Mr. Johnston was chatting at the time with a Daily News representative of early matutinal habits.

"I suppose they came up to watch me," humorously remarked the popular cannery operator as he told of the presence since last evening of the fisheries patrol steamer Malaspina off the Skeena Slough near Inverness. He was in very high spirits. He will be back on the river for the opening of fishing tonight.

From other sources, it was learned that the "strike meeting" called by the "United Front" fishermen at Port Essington on Saturday afternoon had not amounted to very much, the attendance being negligible. Any possibility of there being a strike on the Skeena or Naas Rivers was pretty well obviated when the native fishermen came to terms with the cannery operators a few days ago.
