Editor, Daily News:

nor Chamber of Commerce to tell how they would appeal to the salaried person who makes his living here but does not buy here.

The difficulty, it seems to me, is that we all lack patriotism. Some time ago you referred to people living in this country yet refusing to rise and sing the National Anthem. They do not feel that this is their country and they are proud of the fact.

In the same class, I should say: is the person who lives in Prince Rupert, draws his pay from some local institution such as the railway company, the cold storage, the court house, the schools, the drydock, or the elevator yet takes every opportunity of knocking the city and sends away for everything he wears. He lacks patriot-

In Germany and in Italy there were thousands of these people who were lacking in patriotism. It country and to try to injure her. Then came Mussolini in Italy and the Nazi leader in Germany and instilled into the populace in each of , these countries at least an out-Ward observance of the decencies of life so that, whereas they formerly derided the patriot, today they cheer lustily when the flag is raised or when some leader addresses them. They may not be patriots but they go through the motions. $5.00 They are patriots in outward ap-.10 pearance at anyrate.

Now, apply this to Prince Ru-3.00 pert. It would not be a difficult 9.00 matter for the people who believe in this city and her ultimate destiny to make it very unpleasant for the person who, living here and getting all the advantages of the city, yet refuses to support her. If proper measures were taken to bring it about, there would be very the city. All that is needed is to was as follows: instil into the mines and souls and Vednesday, Dec. 5, 1933 spirits of local people the feeling civic patriotism and the result is accomplished.

It is not for me to suggest how this shall be done. Mussolini did it. Dolfuss is doing it in Austria. Why not carry out the same principle in Prince Rupert?

This, Mr. Editor, may be the answer to your challenge to the young men of Prince Rupert or it may not. I pass it on for what it south to attend the recent conven- here and I hope to live here for
