FULL LIBERAL SLATE

Owing to the fact that the Socialist candidates in Cowichan-Newcastle and Fernie have joined the C. C. F. party, the Liberals in those constituencies have chosen candidates to contest the election. That means a full slate of Liberals—not one missing.

The Liberals have the only complete slate in this election, no other party having the temerity to enter all constituencies. Next to them in number come the C. C. F.

BUSIEST MAN IN PROVINCE

T. D. Pattullo is today the busiest man in the province. When he left here recently he was expected to visit practically every constituency in the province except Peace River. That meant scarcely one day for each riding with several speeches a day in addition to attending to many detail matters and meeting as many as possible of the electors. It is a stupendous undertaking. Local people will understand from this how difficult it has been for him to meet them all individually. It would be useless for him to be elected in Prince Rupert and not carry the rest of the province. Happily the people here know him pretty well and will sympathize with his efforts. This is particularly true of the Queen Charlotte Islands which he has been unable to visit. Word from that part of the constituency indicates that he is receiving great support over there and that he will be given a handsome majority at most of the polling places.

INTEREST IS GREAT

While there is considerable election interest here, it is of a quiet, thoughtful nature, quite different from what is taking place in some parts of the province. Vancouver Island is seething with political action and some parts of the southern mainland show some excitement. We must ask our readers who are not much interested in politics to bear with us for a short time. It will be all over on November 2 and then we shall be able to think of other matters. It means so much to the province to have the right kind of government for the next few years.

MUSIC CLUB IN SESSION

Meetings For Season Resumed With Gathering Yesterday at Home Of President

The Ladies' Music Club resumed its activities for the 1933-34 season with an informal business meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh. Out of respect for Mrs. Max Heilbroner, who was to have had charge of the day, there was no program. Motions of condolence were passed to Mr. and Mrs. Heilbroner and Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis H. McLeod, who were bereaved recently in the deaths of their sons, and one minute's standing silence was observed.

The presentation was made by the president, Mrs. McIntosh, to Miss Frances Moore of the Music Club Cup for having made highest marks in the Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations. Miss Moore, who is a student of the Sisters of St. Joseph, played a piano solo.

Tea was served with Mrs. G. A. Woodland pouring and Mrs. W. L. Stamford and Mrs. H. F. Pullen serving. The tea table was tastefully decorated with beautiful yellow chrysanthemums.

Man in the Moon

Good afternoon folks. I have been asleep for a week or so but here I am again all set for a talk about politics.

Take a look at the candidates. There are only three and each is pretty much like a good horse, perfect in wind and limb and all ready for the race on November 2.

There's T. D., who has represented Prince Rupert since 1916. He says the people here have treated him well. Not many men can keep the confidence of the people that long and still look like a winner. He can't be here for his training but he says he is with us in spirit. His final words before leaving were: "I think I can trust the people of Prince Rupert to do the right thing." And Jake says he can.

Now there's Ex-Alderman Rudderham. He knows what it is to be elected often and defeated seldom. He is waving the banner of socialism but objects to the red flag. His flag is only pink but it has a reddish appearance. If elected he will do his bit to upset the present system, to spike the guns of the banks, and generally to play Old Harry with everything and everybody except the farmer. He says he likes the Victoria climate but, if not elected, Prince Rupert's good enough for him.

Charles Chapman is one of those intensely serious persons and his backers are all serious, so serious and sanguine that they really truly expect people to vote for the Red Flag, the Russian system, the rule of the proletariat. Like the C. C. F. policy it is based on the philosophy of Carl Marx, only it would do at one fell swoop what the others would do gradually. Charles does not expect to win. He is too modest for that but he would like to.

THE NEW DEAL

Editor, Daily News:—
The average man in the street says: "I have no faith in the old political gangs—Liberals or Conservatives." A careful perusal of Plank One of the new Liberal policy embodies a great, revolutionary principle, the establishment of an economic council.

This step means the intervention of the state in private economy. The establishment of an advisory board nominated by all the factors of production is the first step of a new deal. New Liberalism, which is less liberalism and more democracy, is finally conscious of the fact that national economy must be operated under a charter in order to serve social needs. It goes to the root of the present troubles when it advocates the study of the question of "production and consumption in order to adjust it together with the numbers of hours per day and days of work per week, the standard of wages and commodity prices." In Plank One of the Liberal policy there are all the fundamental principles of the N. R. A.

We must honestly and frankly admit that the new Liberal policy has nothing in common with the old gang of laissez faire. It is ultra democratic. Roosevelt was also a mere liberal. All workers and citizens in general must get conscious of the fact that it is their duty to carefully study Plank One of the Liberal policy. Therein lies the solution of our troubles. There is a concrete pledge to grapple with the social problem in accord with the most up-to-date trend of political thought and action. There is no utopian vision of the future socialistic state to be realized in the year 2000 but a definite line of immediate action as the situation demands. There is no time to be lost while there is suffering, want and misery. What the country needs is an able administration like the one of Roosevelt, acting on the same lines to relieve us of this oppressive situation. The Trades and Labor Councils have voiced the sentiment and aspirations of the masses. Let us do our duty. The N. R. A. is our solution, not the confusatory and obsolete C. C. F.

OBSERVER.

Next Wednesday afternoon the steamer Prince George will sail at 3 o'clock instead of 4 o'clock, her regular departure time, for Anyox and Stewart. It is announced by Canadian National Steamships. The change will be for the one week only.
