TWO WEEK-END FILMS

Wheeler and Woolsey and Zane Gray Western Thriller Featured At Capitol Theatre

An uproarious Wheeler and Woolsey comedy "So This is Africa" and a thrilling Zane Grey western, starring George O'Brien and Maureen O'Sullivan, are the features of a special double talking picture bill being presented this week-end at the Capitol Theatre.

"So This is Africa" is a sort of travesty on animal and Tarzan pictures in which there is plenty of peppy music and many bizarre dancing numbers. Wheeler and Woolsey have an imposing array of supporting players with Raquel Torres in the feminine lead.

An exciting page in the vivid history of Arizona, the plundering of a vast cattle herd belonging to a wealthy British rancher, is the historical basis of the romance of "Robbers' Roost." The offering gets its name from a famous retreat used by notorious outlaws of the period, in which the thrilling climax of the film is staged.

REDS LOSE IN BATTLE

Chinese Nationalist Forces Score Decisive Victory Over Communists

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22:—Dispatches received here tell of Chinese Nationalists scoring a decisive victory over Communists after a sanguine three-day battle in Chiangsie Province. The Communists were said to have suffered at least ten thousand casualties including five thousand slain, in addition to which the Nationalist forces took many prisoners. Four hundred of the Nationalist troops were reported slain.

PREMIER OF SPAIN QUITS

Barries Government Presents Resignation to President Zamora

MADRID, Dec. 22:—Following an extraordinary session of the cabinet, Premier Diego Martinez Barries and his administration presented their resignations to President Zamora after having been in office for about a month. Former Premier Nartoux would be called up to form a new cabinet, it was expected.

Special precautions have been taken to prevent the spread into Madrid of serious political disorders which have been occurring for some time in other parts of the nation.

Baptist Church Christmas Tree

Fine Entertainment Was Put On Last Evening

The scholars of the Baptist Sunday School put on a very fine Christmas entertainment in the church last night much to the enjoyment of a large audience. The superintendent, P. H. Linzey, occupied the chair and the teachers constituted the general committee.

During the evening a special gift was awarded to Fletcher Hemmons who was winner of a contest for attendance, the prize being a beautiful Bible with his name engraved on the cover. Second prizes were awarded to Eileen Hamblin, Bob Houston, Harry Daggett and David Houston.

Four prizes were also presented to the following for perfect attendance at the junior church: Inez Berg, June Berg, Junior Daggett and Fletcher Hemons.

Santa Claus arrived in due time and gave gifts to the primary children and had a bag of Christmas goodies for all present. The program was as follows:

Hymn.
Primary song.
Recitations, June Berg, Richard Blake, Joy Berg, Evelyn Moore, Betty Harradine and John Moore.
Duet, Joy and Joan Berg.
Recitation, Buster Hale.
Piano solo, Harry Day.
Trio, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," Mrs. Berg, Miss A. Bury and Miss Armstrong.
Solo, Sigrid Head.
Piano solo, Junior Daggett.
Song, "The First Noel," Delphine Lemon.
Recitation, Fletcher Hemmons.
Violin trio, Miss Hamblin (accompanist), Miss Johnstone, Miss Franks and Miss Phyllis Hamblin.
Recitation, Miss Zelda Hale.
Play, "The Christmas Rose," The Willing Workers.
Solo, "The Toy Maker's Dream," David Houston.
Play, "The Christmas Pudding," The Joyful Helpers.
Play, The Bluebird Class
