AUTEUIL, France, July 24: (Canadian Press)-Great Britain yesterday won the right to meet France in the final of the Davis Cup world's championship tennis competition when, in the final challenge round against United States, Bunny Austin clinched the series for Engand by defeating Wilmer Allison 6-2, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4.

Fred Perry was awarded the victory over Ellsworth Vines of the United States 1-6, 6-0, 4-6, 7-5, 7-6 by default, Vines having collapsed after the fifth set and being unable to finish. The tall Californian youth after reaching the limit of his endurance, fell face down in the dust, a victim of nervous exhaustion.

England won four matches to America's one.
