Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

Works Against White Slavery

NEW YORK, April 27 (Canadian Press)—Rose Livingston, who for the last 29 years has conducted a single handed campaign against white slavery in this city, has submitted her 1932 report to the small group that collects the $600 fund which maintains her and her work each year.

The report was made public by Lawrence Chamberlain, investment broker, as chairman of the Rose Livingston Prudential Committee, which privately undertook years ago under this name to support Miss Livingston's work.

The report is a summary of 24 cases uncovered and brought to conviction through the public authorities by Miss Livingston during 1932 in accordance with her practice of sleeping during the day and wandering all night through restaurants, speakeasies and furnished rooming houses in Chinatown, Greenwich Village and the Navy Yard district, watching for misled girls for whom she may provide a way out of despair and seeking punishment for persons who exploit them.

Her activities last year resulted in 22 convictions for such men and the rescue of 16 girls, mostly under age. This is the work for which the National Institute of Social Sciences gave her a gold medal in 1929. She is known—and is proud of the title—as "The Angel of Chinatown."

June Armour and Winnie Cameron Win in Waltzing

The finals in the waltz competition at the Capitol Theatre were held last night. Miss June Armour and Miss Winnie Cameron, in old fashioned costumes, won first prize—a two months' pass to the theatre.

Misses Ingrid and Vera Morse, in the Swedish national dress, won second prize which was one month's pass to the theatre.

Clara Stegavig and Ed. Antonelli ran a close second with the Morse sisters and the two couples had to dance a second time before the judges could decide.

Tonight the finals in the fox trot competition will take place with six couples, in many interesting costumes, entering.
