ACTUAL BLOOD TESTS Prove IT REVITALIZES

The efficiency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of run-down conditions is now a matter of absolute, scientific proof. The records of a reputable physician who recently made actual monthly blood tests on eleven below-par patients under treatment with this remedy prove beyond question that it restores energy, vigor and every-day health.

As their first blood tests showed, these fagged-out patients were deficient in haemoglobin and red blood corpuscles. It is the haemoglobin—carried throughout the blood stream by the red corpuscles—that distributes oxygen from the lungs and nutriment from the digestive organs to build body cells and clear the system of poisons. Therefore the restorative value of any medicinal preparation depends directly upon its power to increase haemoglobin.

After one month's treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills these "blood-tested" patients showed remarkable increases in haemoglobin and red corpusoles, and they felt and looked much stronger and more energetic. Their health was once more normal.

You can experience equally good results. Try a month's treatment and watch your improvement. Pale, thin-blooded children and young women, quite as much as adults, need this tested remedy. Obtainable at your drug store—50 cents a package.

Jabour reported to the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at its regular weekly luncheon on Tuesday in connection with the movement which has been instituted by the club to obtain used clothes for distribution among the needy of the city. Mr. Jabour, who is chairman of the committee, reported that arrangements had been made for the collection of such clothes at Ormes Drug Store, the Q. & S. Grocery and Gordon's Hardware. The public is being asked to make its donations as soon as possible.

YOUNG MEN ORGANIZED

suggesting how best a junior chamber might be conducted. The younger Mr. Heilbroner urged that the junior chamber get off to a good start and continue to be active. The organizers of the movement here, he said, had given the idea a lot of study.

V. S. Moore thought that more could be accomplished if the young men present at the meeting could be persuaded to join the senior chamber.

Theo Collart agreed that new and younger blood was needed in carrying on the fight for matters of public interest. W. O. Fulton agreed with Mr. Collart's views and was all in favor of a junior chamber of commerce.

W. P. Armour urged the young men to join the senior chamber. He felt that it was important that the fee should not be too high for young men.

Junior and Senior

Speaking again, Henry Heilbroner said that the idea of the junior chamber was to work in conjunction with but not necessarily to back the senior chamber. Every item which was passed by the junior chamber, however, would be placed before the senior with a view to obtaining its approval. Membership in the junior chamber would be open to all young men between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five.

Mr. Alder jr. thought that the junior chamber would not antagonize the senior. He asked if there were any young men in the senior chamber now.

Max Heilbroner was greatly in favor of the movement. The only way to fight for matters of public interest was to get together and organize.

John Dybhavn, vice-president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, could see nothing but good in the new movement. He favored a union of the two chambers.

James Douglas thought it would be advisable to adjourn for a few days to think things over.

At this point, the members of the senior chamber retired after which the embryonic junior body decided to adjourn until next Tuesday evening when it is planned to elect officers and proceed further with organization.

Sale of young girls at from $3 to $10 and the sale of married women at $2 each is officially reported to the China Famine Relief Association from the Meihsien district of Shensi Province.
