MUCH LIKE CANADA

"The men who made the United States the richest country in the world did not go about wringing their hands and quaking in their boots. They worked—whether the going was easy or whether it was hard," says an editorial article in the Atlantic Monthly.

"For nearly three years too many men, who themselves have had plenty to eat and to drink, good beds to sleep in and comfortable homes, have spent hours and hours predicting hard luck and disaster.

"Last spring such men were saying that the United States appeared to be headed for bankruptcy. Since then the government has begun to cut its expenses and increase its income. It is resolutely facing its difficulties. There is no reason for anyone to fear that the nation may fail in its obligations, or collapse.

"The man who is saturated with gloom spreads it. When he loses his sane, clear-eyed viewpoint he may seek sympathy, but what he really needs is to be shaken out of an unhealthy frame of mind.

"And the man who hoards not only robs his family but fails to do his share in promoting normal business and employment of workers. He aggravates the condition which he deplores.

"Some men need jobs-need them badly. They must be helped. But more men need to get readjusted to conditions as they exist. These men may need to readjust their mode of living or their way of thinking.

"Worries fester and grow in the dark. They shrivel and vanish in the light. There are times in every man's lifewhether he be strong or weak, brave or cowardly-when him he needs the counsel of someone who is unafraid. And there are many who know that our country has battled through difficult periods and has always emerged stronger than before.

Your editorial yesterday was not crude but · most glaringly fallicious.

> No one with a spattering knowledge of the progress of religious thought would pick out the clergy of one church as being more advanced than another. Theological institutions set the pace for religious thought and our denominational theological colleges generally move as one. No one has a monopoly on progress. The same may be said with regard to the attitude of the church toward social and moral

When it comes to local churches igious centre. While other churches were flourishing " I am glad that the other churches have flourished and no doubt they will be glad to know that themselves. For your information I would like to say that there was never the least thought that this church would not be mainfaithfully and loyally, they were atways encouraged and supported by the fact that the Methodist Church of Canada was behind them in their good work. And with regard to the church since union, may I ask-in what way did the local church gain strength since union that it did not gain in the years before union?

You congratulate us "on having attained a position of influence and usefulness in the city." I would like to say that this church has held position of influence and usefulnes
