PORCHER ISLAND MINE

The announcement made yesterday that the Surf Point mine at Porcher Island was about to become very active through the installation of a mill, the building of additional bunkhouses and preparations for steady operation was one of the harbingers of improved conditions in this section of the country. The mill at Seal Cove is operating. There is activity at Surf Point mine, the Skidegate Sunrise mine is operating steadily and there are signs of improvement in connection with interior mining operations. This bears out what this paper has said several times and to which exception has been taken by the uninformed. Mining is coming back and very soon we shall find this whole district actively digging into the earth for gold and other minerals.

THE JONES BUDGET

The Daily News was glad to be able to give the people of Prince Rupert a brief summary of the Jones budget yesterday, the only one published in Prince Rupert. Today we are continuing this by giving much more of the detail. To many this will prove a very interesting document in that it shows where the people's money goes and the difficulties which confront administrators, no matter of what political faith. We suggest that any who are interested in politics or economics read this budget speech carefully.

FERRY TO KETCHIKAN

It is evident that the scheme for a ferry between Prince Rupert and Ketchikan is nearer than anticipated. Years ago this scheme was mooted. It was advocated by Ketchikan people for the purpose of trying to hold the halibut business at that port. Now the ferry is proposed again but the object is not quite the same.

Ketchikan needs an outlet to rail head and Prince Rupert is the natural point of contact. The two ports are only 80 miles apart and there is no good reason why there should not be much closer trade relations between them. We have everything to gain by trading with Alaska and they have everything to gain by making use of this outlet. If we can get together, by all means let us do so.

Recruits Sought To British Army But Many Unfit

Suggest Present Generation Born During Great War Was Adversely Affected

LONDON, March 17:—Rather curiously, even a prolonged spell of industrial depression does not increase the popularity of recruiting for the army. More recruits are wanted at the present time, but those who are joining are not mainly from the ranks of the unemployed. Many of the newcomers are university students and others with high educational qualifications.

General Sir Archibald Montgomery-Massingberd, who will shortly succeed Lord Milne as chief of the Imperial General Staff, says while the army is short of men it is unwilling to lower the present standard of physical requirement. More than fifty percent of the men who offer for enlistment are rejected, many of them by reason of bad ears or teeth. It is possible that the generation which was born during the war was adversely affected by the strain undergone by the parents.

The financial crisis of 1931 caused a curtailment of recruiting, and this has created the mistaken impression that the army is not in need of men. The encouragement of sport in the late years in the army has produced so fine a standard of fitness that recognized army boxers, upon leaving the colors, are eagerly sought by uniformed civil forces such as police and fire brigades.

The regular army at the beginning of the financial year was 10,000 below establishment. If the desired 9,500 recruits are forthcoming in the present quarter, the year's total will be 30,000 recruits, and the army's shortage will have been reduced by about 2,000.

SPORTS

SPORT CHAT

The days of the big athletic club in track and field competition are numbered. This startling statement was made by Avery Brundage who is serving his fifth term as president of the Amateur Athletic Union in the United States. The enthusiastic Chicago sports lover maintained that the growth of the spiked shoe sport in the United States would depend in the future on the success of the small neighborhood and industrial athletic clubs. The days of the big clubs were over.

One of the prominent sport writers in the United States makes a selection of the "best ever" ball players in Major League baseball.

Walter Johnson—the greatest pitcher. He struck out more batters than any other boxman the diamond has ever known.

Ty Cobb—the greatest hitter. He led the American League a dozen times in the span of thirteen seasons:

Babe Ruth—the greatest long distance hitter and biggest gate attraction.

Hans Wagner—the greatest infielder.

Tris Speaker—the greatest outfielder.

John J. McGraw—the greatest manager.

Hal Chase—the greatest treat to watch in action.

Roger Bresnahan—the greatest catcher, smart, cool headed, fast, a swell backstop and a murderous hitter.

WHIFFLETS
From the Waterfront

Booth Fisheries bought halibut this week for the first time this season. They went off the market the middle of October of last year and evinced no sign of activity until Monday. Then they bought and shipped a carload.

There seems to be a difference of opinion in regard to the new regulation providing for the marketing of salmon as quickly as possible after being caught. At Victoria the city planned to protest when J. L. Beckwith, a canneryman, strongly championed the regulation and declared it was designed to improve the standard of quality of Canadian fish in the British market where it has suffered considerably through the market of poor quality product.

The Pacific Salvage tug Red Boy has gone to Vancouver to get a 200 horsepower Vivien deisel engine installed. She is helping the Salvage Princess tow Jollymore's logging outfit to Grenville Channel and a scow to Vancouver to fetch lumber for the Cold Storage Company's dock repair job. Captain Green is in charge.

"NOW CAN EAT ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION"

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:

"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic.

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan. (Address furnished upon request.)

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Basketball Buzz

The Grotto has not yet cinched the Senior League but are one game ahead with one more game with the C.N.R. on Friday night. If the Grotto wins this match they will capture the second half honors but if they lose they will be tied and it will be necessary to play another game before the champions of the second half can be decided.

On Friday night the championship playoffs for the Junior league will start. The championship games will be a series of two games the total number of points deciding the victor. The Scouts and the Meteors will be stacked together in their first game on Friday night.

The C.N.R.A. basketball team of Vancouver have sent up word that they will be here on March 22. This will be the first time in the history of Prince Rupert that a Vancouver basketbal lteam will have visited the north.

The C. N. R. team of Vancouver went through the interemdiate division last year without a defeat and this year were put in the Senior B. division, which is a fast league and corresponds with our senior league here.

The style of basketball played in Vancouver is slightly different from that played here and it will be interesting to see what will happen when they meet the local boys.

Rebekah Ladies Cabaret Tea in Oddfellows Hall

Very Successful Event Held Yesterday Afternoon Arranged by Mrs. J. M. Simpson

The Rebekah ladies hel dan afternoon cabaret tea in the Oddfellows' hall yesterday afternoon. Tables were arranged around the side of the hall so that guests could enjoy dancing during the afternoon.
