MAILS UNSATISFACTORY

The present mails between Prince Rupert and the east are very unsatisfactory. There is a mail arriving in the city Monday afternoon and not another until Thursday night, so late as to really mean Friday morning, about four days between mails. As a result people doing business with the east find their orders arriving late. In the Daily News office an order arrived this morning for an advertisement scheduled for yesterday.

Complaint is made by the wholesalers that their business with interior points is interfered with and the matter is being taken up with the post office department at Ottawa.

As an example of how the mails operate just now, a letter arrived at this office this morning postmarked in Regina, June 16. The writer of the letter left the day after it was posted and arrived in the city Tuesday. The letter arrived late last night and was available this morning, three days after the writer arrived.

The government has a monopoly on the mail business. It is illegal for a person in the interior to send a letter to Prince Rupert in any way except through His Majesty's mails. Because of this monopoly, the postal department is in duty bound to give a good service. Usually it does so but just now there is good cause for complaint.

SALES TAX IN CANADA

Hearst newspapers are campaigning for a sales tax in the United States similar to that in Canada. This tax is a method of making the consumers pay, irrespective of their ability to do so. Poor and rich are taxed on their food and on the other commodities they purchase. It is in force in Canada, not because the people like it, but because money has to be raised and the people who make the levies are at a loss how to get it without strong protest from those who pay.

CANADIAN DOLLAR

The value of the Canadian dollar in the United States is approximately 96c. That is better than it has been for many months. It is prophesied by many that it will steadily rise until it reaches par. With the dollar down, Canadian purchases in the United States almost stop. It acts as a protective duty. The chief objection to the low price of the dollar is that payments have to be made by municipalities and others in the United States and the discount is almost ruinous.

RESOLUTION IS OPPOSED

Retention of Jury System Urged By Unemployed Councils

The local unemployed council has sent the following letter to the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce in regard to a resolution passed recently by the latter body favoring the abolition of the jury system in criminal trials:

"The resolution passed recently by your organization urging replacement of the jury system by a committee of judges in the trial of criminal cases was subject matter for discussion at the last meeting of this association.

"We are completely at a loss to understand the sense or reason for this proposal but presume it to be the outcome of the recent session of the Assize Court here. We are not surprised altogether at any abolition in these abnormal times when so-called responsible governments have recourse to so many numerous sorry expedients and senseless efforts in keeping down expenses. The main argument against the jury system is that it is unwieldy and expensive and, in the present economic distress, much may be said for your resolution but, on the other hand, justice should be dispensed without fear or favor and entirely regardless of expense. Justice on this continent is influenced largely by politics which is not to be wondered at when the very judges are party nominees and their opinion, therefore, is bound to be swayed to a certain extent by governmental policies. The trend of the times seems to be towards a brutal form of dictatorship—a reversal to feudalism and any encroachment on our privileges can only be regarded as a step toward fascism. Your resolution is condemned by this association as an attempt to institute anti-working-class legislation and a step towards the complete abasement of the working-class. Great Britain and the British colonies, for centuries, also the United States, have upheld the jury system as the fairest and most impartial system of trial and trial by our peers is now an integral part of British justice.

"Of course no human institution can be considered as altogether perfect. May we take the liberty of suggesting that your chamber could be better employed if they passed a resolution recommending the abolition of the present system of society, with its competition resulting in adulteration of food shoddy clothing, slums and vice and replacing it by a system of production of use and not for profit. Unless all classes and organizations in the community get together in a united front, they can only be considered as being party to the present system which in recent years stands exposed as a shameless conspiracy for the exploitation of humanity."

and leaving the affairs of state to the statesmen and politicians.

Visited Germany

On a visit to Germany, Mr. Johnson said there was little sign of prosperity. The Nazis were much in evidence helping to patrol the streets along with the regular police. They drilled in the evenings and went into camp at the week-end. If they were not soldiers, they were the best imitation he knew. The people were in a nervous condition and war talk was prevalent.

Mr. Johnson attended the convention of the Rotary Clubs of Great Britain and Ireland at Scarborough and was called upon to speak, taking advantage of the occasion to bring Prince Rupert to the attention of those present. Rotarian Prince George was present and gave an address and Premier Ramsay Macdonald sent a message. He also attended a banquet of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce along with Sid Johnston of this city at which Right Hon. Neville Chamberlain was the chief speaker.

Amy Johnson and her husband, Captain Jim Mollison, were among the people Mr. Johnson met and he expressed the opinion that they would yet make their flight across the Atlantic to New York and back to Baghdad.

F. B. Shearme, superintendent of the Georgia River Gold Mining Co.'s property on Portland Canal near Stewart, on which development operations are about to be resumed, is a passenger aboard the Prince Rupert today going through to Stewart.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

You are "feeling punk" simply because your liver isn't pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Digestion and eliminations are both hampered, and your entire system is being poisoned.

When you need a liver stimulant, nothing that gives further discomfort, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum or roughage which only irritates the bowels—handle the real cause of trouble, your liver.

Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purely vegetable. No harsh calomel (mercury). Safe. Sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all druggists.
