WORLD GRAIN SHOW

Regina, the city named after the Queen of England, is to the fore this year with the world grain show and con- of these although he was equipped ference. Every day during the two weeks the fair is open, with a 30-30 rifle. He landed his there are gatherings of some kind. Lectures and papers on plane on a tundra plateau and ensubjects pertaining to grain growing or some other phase camped himself in a grass but of agriculture are a great feature of the big event. Prominent visitors are present from all over the continent and the Saskatchewan capital is the centre of attraction in Canada this week and next.

While grain is the central feature of the Regina show, there are all sorts of special attractions there such as go to make up the real fair.

IS IT REALLY BETTER?

Are things really better? Absolutely, yes. The general conditions of the country have improved and Prince Rupert is moving in the right direction. The signs are plain enough. Industries have been starting up or speeding up. The unemployed list has been reduced very considerably. Business in many lines has improved and prices are stiffening. The stock market has been active with prices well ahead of those obtaining last spring. Everything indicates a better condition coming. In Prince Rupert there has been a revival in the fish business and the unemployed list is cut in half. This is progress.

It must not be expected that we can jump out of a depression in a day or a week or a month. That is impossible. What is going on is the usual contest between the forces of optimism and the forces of pessimism. The former is in the ascendant but when it makes too much progress, it finds itself pulled back. Stocks went too high. The price of wheat advanced too rapidly and the result was a slump in arrived here at 8:30 this morning. both, but not back to the old point. Good advances have been maintained over two months ago. Very soon there will be another move forward but whether there will first be a further drop, it is impossible to say. All that is needed is a steady average advance in prices and a steady reemployment of those out of work.

In business the period of improvement is sometimes critical. Those who have withstood the slump sometimes cannot stand up under the improvement for they have not enough energy and capital left to compete against those who have conserved during the dull times.

Was Almost All In

"I was almost all in," admitted Mattern in an interview this morning as he described his rescue 75 miles up the Anadir River in the barren Siberian wilderness nineteen days after he had made his forced landing. He was found by a party of Eskimos bound for Anadir with their winter's take of furs. The natives supplied him with food and took him on to Anadir where he was held for two weeks within three and a half hours' flying time of Nome, being finally taken there by a big Dornier-Wal Russian flying boat which he was allowed to pilot himself. International regulations prevented the Alexander relief expedition from proceeding from Nome to Anadir to pick Mattern up.

"Pickings were pretty poor as. far as food was concerned on the Siberian tundra," stated Mattern. The land does not yield a very good living there. There were a few wild ducks but he was unable to get any alongside the river some distance away. Even with its simple diet of dried meat and such like, the billof-fare of the Eskimos and the Anadir folk was a good deal better than nothing at all which was about all he had had for the nineteen days he was lost, said Mattern. Anadir is a village with about fifty white (Russian) inhabitants. Spring was just about to open up thereabouts.

In the forced landing, Mattern wrecked his plane but was able to salvage the engine which was dragged over the tundra by dog teams to Anadir where it is now awaiting transportation to the United States. The plane was a Lockheed-Vega machine, the engine a 525 h.p. Wasp. From Nome Mattern, being joined by the Alexander relief expedition, flew the Ellis plane to Fairbanks, leaving the far western town Saturday evening and landing at the Central Alaska city Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. The whole party left Fairbanks, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, landed at Juneau at 10:30 last night, left here at 5 o'clock this morning.

According to present plans, Mathere to Lakelse Lake and Ellis will take the Alexander party on to Hazelton. Mattern will take the Alexander Bellanca plane from the Terrace hayfield solo and fly to the plane. At Edmonton Mattern and day morning instituted inquiries he members felt for "The Father." liam Alexander, Fred Fetterman Thomas Abbey and Harold Person will part company. The world flyer will fly solo from Edmonton to New York via Chicago in his new plane and the rescuers will accompany him in their own Bellanca ma

As a result of having piloted the various relief planes, Mattern will at least have accomplished world flight even though part of it was not solo as he had hoped.

Entertainment Planned

TERRACE, July 26:- Excited at reports that Jimmy Mattern firmation. world flyer, would soon be an interesting visitor among them, the townsfolk of Terrace have already laid their plans for the entertainment of the globe circumnavigator and members of the relief expedition headed by William Alexander of New York.

Chief item on the entertainment program for the visiting flyers will be a strawberry social and dance, all arrangements for which have been made. Everybody in the district is planning to attend and mingle in the reception for the air-

Meantime, Harold Person, who was left behind from the Alexander relief expedition to stand by the Lockheed-Vega airplane, has the ship tuned up and ready to hop at any time. He has been giving the plane daily runs around the clover field on Harry Frank's farm in which it made its forced landing three weeks ago.

It was Capt. Alexander's intention, before leaving Nome, to lift other point further along with a end at Stewart, and Father Leray. Speaking for the parishioners Mr. Murphy, in a short and sincere address, welcomed the bishop to the district and expressed the regrets of all at the departure of Father Leray, presenting the latter with a very handsome club bag as a parting gift from the parish.

On behalf of the local Catholic Women's League, Mr. Murphy also presented Father Leray with a radio lamp. Both Bishop Bunoz and Father Leray spoke briefly, Father vited to Mr. Murphy's for tea and had not expected to be the guest of honor at such a gathering. He feelingly expressed his thanks for the of which they were tokens. Referring to his transfer from Stewart to Dawson, he said he was both glad and sorry-glad to be going to a bigger post in the church but very sorry to be leaving his many friends in this locality. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the parish.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

LEGION IS VICTORIOUS

Defeated Regiment 6 to 1 in Senior Football Game Last Night

The Canadian Legion scored a decisive win over the Regiment in the Mobley Cup, City Football League game last evening by six goals to one.

The first half was played at a fast rate with the pigskin travelling from end to end. The Regiment scored first when Carroll converted from close in. Play continued interesting and then Dickens scored the equalizer for the Legion. Christison had a grand opening but shot weakly and Pierce saved. From a cramble in the goal mouth the ball rebounded from Dickens and gave the Legion the lead. Eby stopped Baptie nicely and Wingham was effective. Vink failed to clear an easy long shot that hit the bar and Bussanich added a third for the Legion.

The second half began at a fast pace but the Legion was the better and stronger team and the Regiment forwards made little headway. Blake cleared well but Baptie beat Vink with a long fast drive. Hill and Wingham tried to force the pace but the Legion returned to the attack and Dickens scored a fine goal. Davies crossed a nice centre but Stiles cleared. Play became a bit ragged. Stiles scored with a long Good afternoon, have you noticed | cross shot. Johnstone went close for the Legion a couple of times but no further goals were scored.
